X Factor flop: 7/7 reminds me of success

X FACTOR flop Steve Brookstein sparked fury on Twitter by saying the anniversary of the 7/7 terror attacks remind him of chart success.

The singer claims he wasn't even aware of the attacks at the time – as he was distracted by his new-found fame.

He posted today: "Ten years ago I was heading home from New York and Barcelona after celebrating a No.1 album. Totally oblivious to 7/7 attacks."

The show's inaugural winner enjoyed fleeting success in 2005 with his album Heart And Soul before being dropped by Sony BMG after just eight months.

Desktopgamer tweeted: "Ten years ago today I was watching in horror as 7/7 events unfolded, completely oblivious to who the hell Steve Brookstein was."

'Bombers don't represent Leeds'

THE Mayor of Leeds – the city where three of the four London bombers lived – told a memorial ceremony yesterday: "They did not represent this city 10 years ago and they don't represent it now."

Judith Chapman was joined by civic leaders to mark the anniversary.

She told the city centre gathering: "We stand in solidarity with London in commemorating these tragic events."

"Three of the men came from Leeds, yet they knew nothing of the values of this city or of tolerance, respect and democracy."

1-IN-5 ILLEGAL MIGRANTS IS AN ISIS FIGHTER SAYS EU

TWENTY per cent of refugees entering Britain illegally from Calais could be ISIS terrorists, say EU experts.

Nearly half-a-million people have flooded into Europe in the last two years, mostly making their way from Libya to Greece or Italy.

And many of those crossing the Mediterranean are trying to make their way to the UK.

The majority are coming here to find work and a better life – but a significant number could be ISIS terrorists who are planning atrocities on UK soil.

Michele Coninx, head of the EU's judicial co-operation agency Eurojust, confirmed she received the intel as part of the organisation's efforts to respond to illegal immigration and terrorism.

Ms Coninx said groups such as ISIS are using proceeds from people-trafficking to fund terrorism.

She revealed: "We're going after the criminals. We're going after the money."

Threat

"It is an alarming situation because these smugglings are used to sometimes finance terrorism. They are used to ensure infiltrations by the Islamic State."

A Foreign Office insider said: "We don't know how many people are coming into Europe – the majority are not tracked."

"They want to avoid the authorities in the country they land in so they can get to Northern Europe before they are processed as refugees."

By ANN COATES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

That means we don't know who they are or where they are. It also means they could be terrorists.

"One estimate says 20 per cent of refugees from Northern Africa and the Middle East are ISIS sympathisers."

Britain has been warned to brace itself for "boats full of terrorists" if Islamist fanatics are allowed to cement their foothold in Libya.

Egypt's Ambassador to the UK said the flood of migrants from north Africa poses a new threat now that the Islamic State controls the Libyan coastal town of Sirte.

IS fighters have taken numerous coastal towns, just a few hundred miles across the water from mainland Europe.

And Italian officials say they are shipping tens of thousands of migrants to Europe every month.

SADNESS: Crowds gather at Tavistock Square, where a bus was bombed

A MEMORIAL service at St Paul's Cathedral has marked the 10th anniversary of the London bombings.

The families of those who died in the attacks were in attendance, as well as some of those injured on July 7, 2005.

Candles representing the site of each incident were carried by people who helped deal with the aftermath.

Silence

They included George Psaradakis, who was driving the bombed bus at Tavistock Square, and Dr Peter Holden, who provided urgent treatment at the scene.

Guests at the service included the Duke of York, Prime Minister David Cameron, mayor of London Boris Johnson, former Prime Minister Tony Blair and Home Secretary Theresa May.

The names of the 52 victims were read out before a minute of silence was held.

David Cameron and Boris Johnson also laid wreaths at the 7/7 memorial in Hyde Park.

They carried the flowers through the permanent memorial at around 8.50am – the time the bombs went off 10 years ago.

On the card attached to his wreath, Mr Cameron wrote: "To the victims of terrorism in London 10 years ago today. We grieve your loss and will honour your memory forever."

Mr Johnson wrote: "Ten years may have passed, but London's memory is undimmed. We honour again today the victims of 7/7."

"You will live forever in the hearts of the people of this city."

Greeks try again for Euro deal

GREEK prime minister Alexis Tsipras is heading to Brussels for an emergency meeting of eurozone leaders.

He will try to use a resounding referendum victory to eke out concessions from European creditors over a bailout for the crisis-ridden country.

Mr Tsipras is set to reveal fresh proposals to creditors that he hopes will kick-start negotiations.

He needs the bailout talks to make rapid progress so Greece can get access to money that will prevent the banks going bust and safeguard the country's euro future.

Greece's financial distress became more acute when the European Central Bank refused to increase assistance for Greek banks, which reopen on Thursday.

A meeting of eurozone finance ministers, which will be Euclid Tsakalotos's first as Greek finance minister, will precede the full summit.

Boko Nigeria bomb attack kills 25

A BOMB blast in Nigeria's northern university town of Zaria has killed 25 people, including a two-year-old.

The incident is the latest in a string of deadly bombing and shooting attacks by the Boko Haram Islamic extremist group.

Kaduna state governor Nasir el-Rufai urged citizens to avoid crowded public places, including mosques and churches, as the militants step up attacks that have killed 300 people in a week.

Boko Haram may be responding to an Islamic State order to commit more mayhem during the Muslim holy month of Ramadan.

Batsman killed by cricket ball

A BATSMAN has died after being hit in the chest with a cricket ball in Surrey.

Bavalan Pathmanathan, 24, who played in the British Tamils Cricket League, was struck while playing for division three outfit Manipay Parish Sports Club.

He was given CPR by paramedics at the scene, but died of his injuries at Kingston Hospital.

Batsmen's safety has been a hot topic since the death of Australia international Phillip Hughes, who was hit in the neck by a bouncer in November.

TODAY'S WEATHER

IT'S GOING TO SNOW! F**king snow – in JULY! We shit you not. OK, only at the top of the Cairngorms in Scotland though.

RiRi's shock vid has 'em all panicking

TWO firms are pulling their adverts from being shown before Rihanna's new explicit online music video.

Travel firm Kuoni and the Co-operative Group will stop their promos playing before the singer's track Bitch Better Have My Money on video streaming website Vevo.

The controversial song, which has been viewed more than 18 million times since it was uploaded last week, has shocked fans by depicting bloody murder, sexualised violence and nudity.

In the seven-minute film, 27-year-old singer RiRi kidnaps a housewife, strips her naked and subjects her to a terrifying ordeal.

Often companies buy 'blocks' of digital advertising through a third party and are not aware of where their adverts have actually been placed.

Kuoni and the Co-op said last night they have a policy of not advertising alongside explicit content and would be withdrawing their support.

Gabby: My kids' pals fancy me!

STUNNING telly babe Gabby Logan has told how her young son is embarrassed by her – because all his pals FANCY her.

The former Final Score presenter has an army of male admirers.

But the 42-year-old revealed her two kids find her sex symbol status "hilarious".

The BBC Sports Personality of the Year winner said: "At 42, you don't think of yourself as fanciable."

"My kids find it hilarious."

"Recently my son said, 'the boys at school say to me 'your mum is hot'.'"

Former Welsh gymnast Gabby has two children, nine-year-old twins Reuben and Lois, with ex-Scotland rugby player Kenny Logan, 43.

Noel gets the vinyl charts in a real spin

NOEL GALLAGHER has claimed the three best-selling vinyl singles released this year.

Data from the official charts company reveals the former Oasis man's dominance extends to the album chart, which he also tops ahead of Led Zeppelin's Physical Graffiti and the debut by fellow Mancunians Stone Roses.

Vinyl – which at one point looked close to extinction in the face of CDs and streaming – has had a resurgence in recent years and last year saw vinyl LP sales reach a 20-year high in the UK at 1.3million.

The top five albums include Blur's The Magic Whip, and Royal Blood's eponymous debut.

Led Zep feature in the top 10 twice with their fourth album – which includes their most famous track, Stairway To Heaven – at No.8.

Gallagher's releases Riverman, Ballad Of The Mighty I and The Dying Of The Light take the top three places in the singles chart ahead of Blur's Y'all Doomed and David Bowie's Changes.

Street learns of Deirdre death

CORONATION STREET viewers will learn tonight of the tragic death of Deirdre Barlow, played by the late Anne Kirkbride.

In heartbreaking scenes, Deirdre's husband Ken, daughter Tracy and neighbour Audrey are told of the devastating news by close friend Bev.

Her death is announced later to the rest of Weatherfield's residents at a party planned for her homecoming at the Rovers Return.

Kirkbride, who played Deirdre for 42 years, died in January aged 60.

She had been away from the screen for four months after taking a break following her diagnosis with cancer.

Kirkbride was one of the soap's best-known performers and was loved by millions for her portrayal of husky-voiced Deirdre, famed for many years for her oversized spectacles.

Man charged with Melanie killing in 1984

A 63-YEAR-OLD man has appeared in court charged with murdering a teenager more than 30 years ago.

Christopher Hampton, of Staple Hill, Bristol, appeared at Bristol Crown Court via video link accused of murdering Melanie Road, 17, in Bath, Somerset, in 1984.

The A-level student (above) was sexually assaulted and died from multiple stab wounds during an attack in the early hours of June 9 after walking home from a night out with friends.

Hampton did not enter a plea or apply for bail during the short hearing.

The courtroom was packed with members of the press and the families of both Melanie and Hampton.

Melanie's mother, Jean Road, 80, sat at the front of the public gallery to listen to proceedings.

Hampton was arrested last week and charged with murder over the weekend.

He will appear before Bristol Crown Court on July 28.

Brit is gored in Pamplona

A BRITON and two Americans were gored and eight others injured in the Pamplona bull run this week.

Thousands of daredevils dashed alongside fighting bulls in the first run of the San Fermin festival, organisers said.

The 30-year-old Brit and the Americans, aged 27 and 38, were gored by the bulls but none is thought to be in a serious condition, San Fermin officials said.

Three more Americans were among the eight others injured – most of whom were badly bruised due to falls and crowd crushes.

The Pamplona bull run – which is televised across Spain – lasts just over two minutes.

In total, 15 people have died from being gored in San Fermin since record-keeping began in 1924.

JEZZA BANNED FROM ALL TV CAR SHOWS FOR 2 YEARS!

JEREMY Clarkson has been banned from appearing on television for the next two years.

The 55-year-old's contract with the BBC says that even after it ends he cannot make a TV show for another terrestrial broadcaster until the end of 2017.

Even though the Beeb sacked him following a fight with a Top Gear producer, the clause still applies.

Top Gear will now be presented by Chris Evans but plans for ITV to launch a rival with the show's original team have been scuppered by the legal complications.

That means online broadcaster Netflix are now the clear favourites to sign up Clarkson and pals Richard Hammond and James May.

A TV insider said: "Basically they could make a show for ITV, but not one about cars."

Rival

"A clause stops them leaving and making a rival."

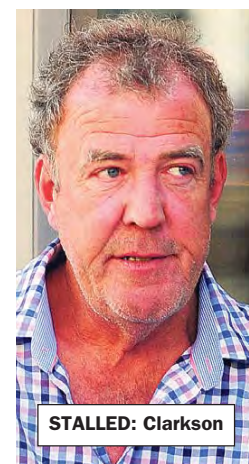

"It means Netflix or Amazon are favourites to sign up the team."

"There is a feeling that if they wait two years it gives Chris Evans a chance to steal a march on them and get his new Top Gear show up and running, which means he would be settled in by then."

"It's a difficult decision but they hope to make up their minds soon, after a number of meetings. ITV have made them a great offer."

The BBC ditched Clarkson following an incident in March involving a Top Gear producer.

However, the Beeb could be left extremely embarrassed by their decision to sack Jezza.

The final episode, which featured two previously unseen films was watched by 5.8 million people, with as many as three million more tuning in on BBC iPlayer.

The long-running TV motor show has also been nominated for best entertainment show at the 2015 TV Choice Awards, along with Ant and Dec, ITV 2's Celebrity Juice and The Graham Norton Show.

TV Choice and Total TV Guide's Jon Peake said: "Top Gear is a big hit with our readers. Ant and Dec are also very popular and can do no wrong, with our readers absolutely adoring them."

"So coming head-to-head with Ant and Dec could mean it's a fight to the death."

Lenny Henry will host the TV Choice Awards, which take place at the London Hilton Park Lane hotel on September 7.

Cara 'so sexy' for lifting lid on lesbo love

MOVIE sizzler Michelle Rodriguez has praised ex lesbo lover Cara Delevingne for speaking openly about her sexuality.

Model Cara, who has also dated 1D's Harry Styles, blabbed about her relationship with female singer St Vincent.

The 22-year-old said: "I think that being in love with my girlfriend is a big part of why I'm feeling so happy with who I am these days."

"And for those words to come out of my mouth is actually a miracle."

Fast & Furious star Michelle, 36, said it was difficult living in the public eye as a lesbo, bisexual or gay.

And it was "so sexy" of Cara to "come out". She added: "I think everybody should be open about everything in their lives, but at the end of the day the world isn't that black and white."

"You've got some people who, if they really did say what they do for a living, they'd lose their job."

"For her to come out – God bless her. I think that's beautiful."

World's oldest man dies at 112

THE world's oldest man, a retired teacher from Japan, has died at the age of 112.

An official from the city of Saitama said Sakari Momoi died from kidney failure at a nursing home in Tokyo.

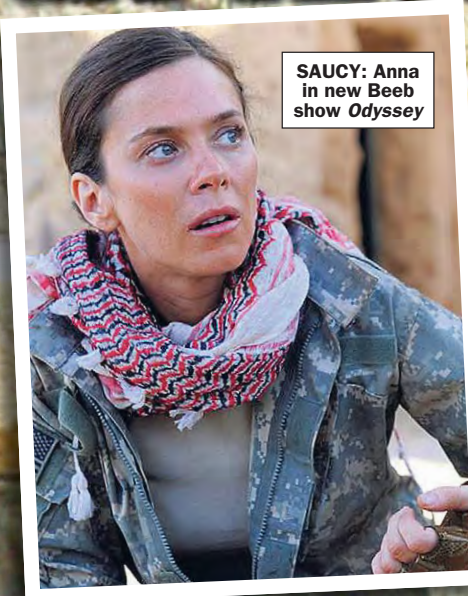

Mr Momoi was born on February 5, 1903, in Fukushima prefecture, where he became a teacher.

He later moved to Saitama, north of Tokyo, and served as a high school principal until retirement.

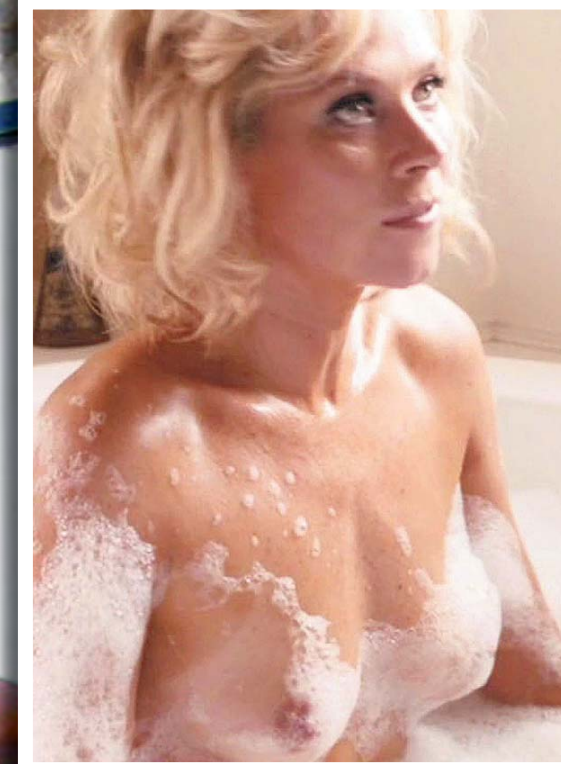

Another Japanese man, 112-year-old Yasutaro Koide, of Nagoya, is now the world's oldest man, according to the Los Angeles-based Gerontology Research Group.

The world's oldest person is an American woman, 116-year-old Susannah Mushatt Jones, of Brooklyn, New York.

FORMER Brookside star Anna Friel has revealed she literally got saucy in the bedroom... after dipping her FANNY in a plate of RAVIOLI!

The 38-year-old actress, currently appearing in U.S. drama Odyssey, made TV history back in 1994 after her steamy LESBIAN snog on the Liverpool-based Channel 4 soap.

But years later, she revealed her own sex life is just as tasty – and she once stuffed her ladyparts with PASTA to impress a lucky fella!

Anna, from Rochdale, said: "The wildest thing I've ever done to show a bloke I loved him was sit in a plate of ravioli with no knickers on."

But that's not the first time Anna has blurted out a bizarre sex confession.

When asked how she likes to relax after a hard day's work, she previously said: "Sometimes I just want to have a really good time and f**k."

Cocks

The Pushing Daisies star also reckons she likes wearing loose knickers so her MIMSY can feel the sunny breeze.

She told reporters: "French knickers are so airy. The crotch hangs down. You feel so free and available."

Anna currently plays captured U.S. soldier Odelle Ballard in new BBC show Odyssey, which airs on Sundays at 9.15pm on BBC Two.

But after 20 years in front of the camera, she admits her main concern is co-stars' STIFF cocks!

Speaking of her raunchy sex scenes, Anna said: "You'd wonder what was wrong with you if he didn't."

Anna previously whipped 'em out in Hollywood flicks The Tribe, Bathory, Niagara Motel and The Look of Love – about porn baron Paul Raymond.

Give more power to footie fans, says Labour MP

FOOTBALL fans should be given the right to buy at least 10 per cent of the clubs they support so they can act as an early warning system against unscrupulous owners, the shadow sport minister has said.

Labour's Clive Efford said supporters should also be given the power to elect at least a quarter of board members at their clubs in an effort to improve accountability in a game rocked by scandals.

The Eltham MP said fans are too often ignored over ticket prices, club colours and stadium naming rights.

Moving his Football Governance (Supporters' Participation) Bill, Mr Efford told the Commons: "I intend to begin the process of giving football fans their voice."

"From the very top of the game at Fifa and Uefa down to club boardrooms, fans have little representation."

"It is a sad fact that fans' influence on their clubs and governance of the game has become less and less."

Pirate fires shots on bridge at cars

A MAN dressed up as a PIRATE opened fire with two black-powder pistols on a busy bridge.

Frightened witnesses called the cops when the man – armed to the teeth with 18th century weaponry – fired off a round at passing cars in the Florida Keys.

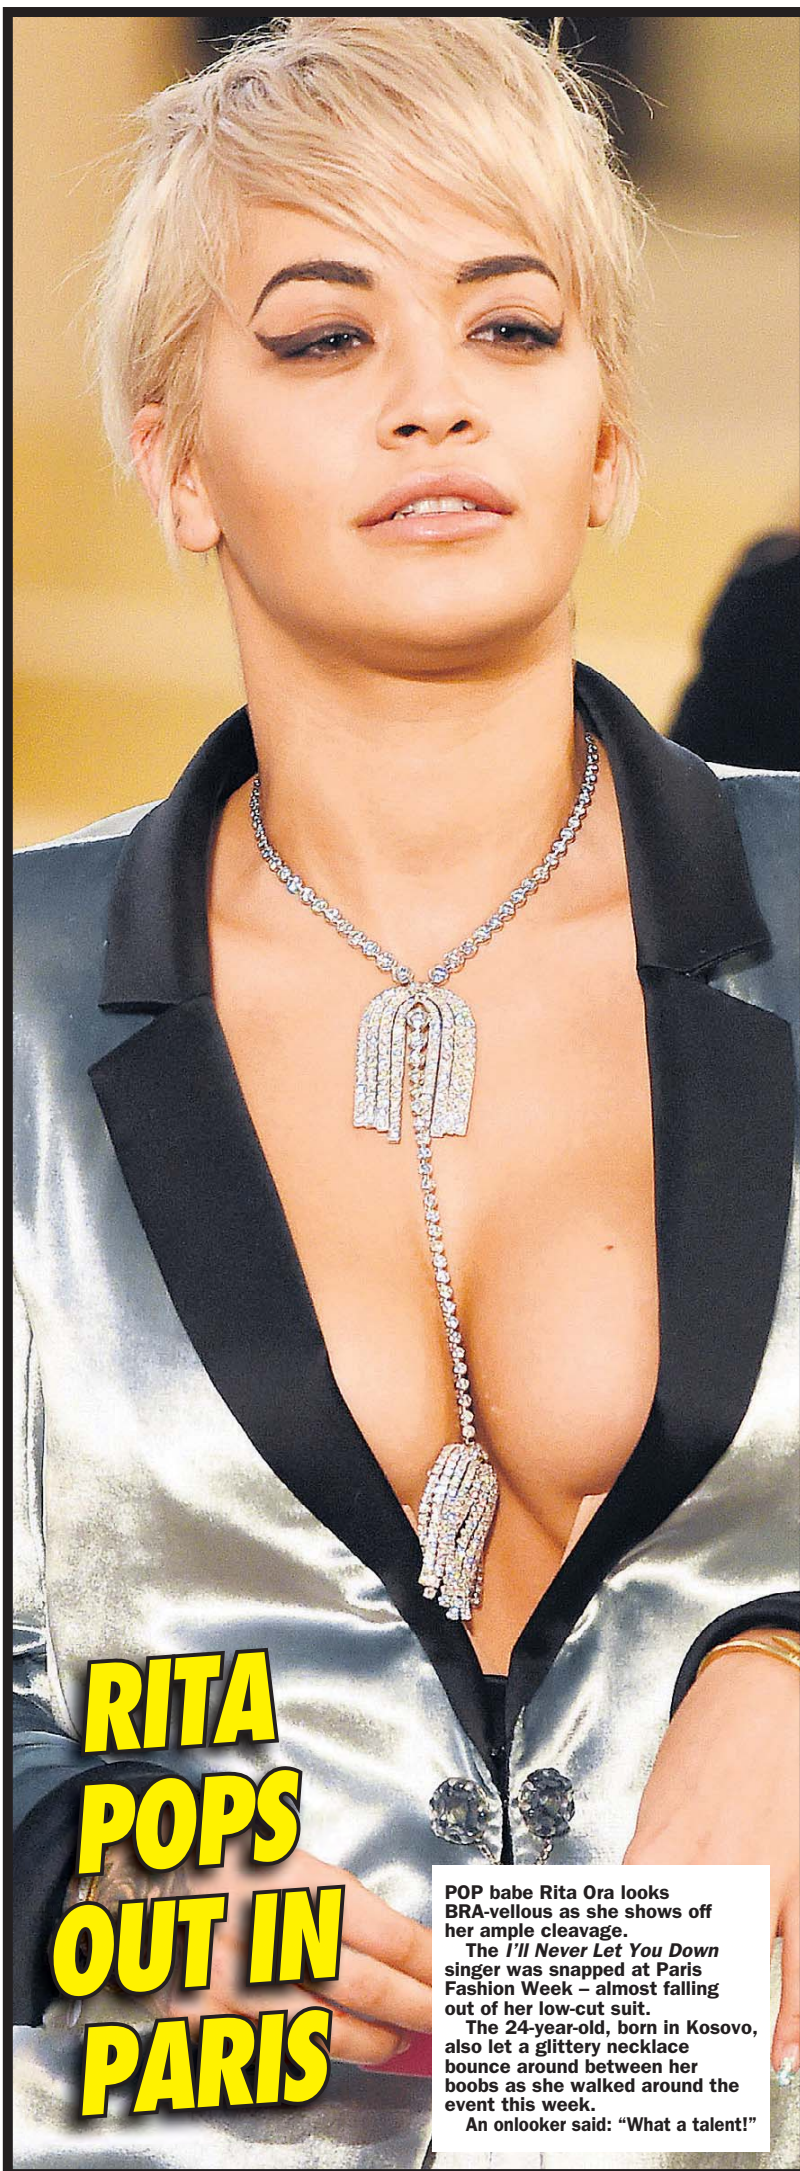

The man, identified as 58-year-old Jamie Spiering, was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct.

The pirate pretender told deputies he was watching the sunset with a couple of friends on the Seven Miles Bridge when he decided to pop off a couple of shots.

He claimed the blasts were only blanks.

Spiering, who also had a sword and two knives, is an entertainer who poses as Capt'n Silky Silvertips at bars, parties and pirate gatherings throughout the region.

An onlooker said: "What a talent!"

A TEACHER apologised after admitting having sex with THREE of her teen students – before being jailed for 22 years.

Jennifer Fichter, 30, wept in court as she appealed for leniency.

But a judge who described her as a 'predator' dished out the long sentence.

Fichter, an English teacher, admitted sex sessions with three 17-year-old boys from a school in Florida.

In a recorded phone call played in court in Lakeland, near Tampa, she said she aborted a pregnancy after having intercourse with one teenager and confessed to having multiple sex sessions with two others.

Parties

"All I can say is I'm so sorry," the teacher told family members and the court.

"I wish I could take it back, and my words are not going to suffice, I know that."

After leaving her previous job – where she was accused of inappropriate behaviour with a student – Fichter was hired by a Florida school district in August 2011.

She was accused of having sex with one of the boys just a month after starting her new job.

She met the boys at parties and used her own apartment to take them for sex.

Not only did Fichter have sex dozens of

By BRAD CHADWICK

times with three of her students, she also forced the boys, all 17 at the time, to lie to their families about their clandestine meetings.

Fichter also sent the boys explicit text messages – using an alias to cover up the sexual offences that she was committing.

Fichter was arrested in April 2014 after admitting to having sex with a student about 30 times in a vehicle in several parking garages.

TEARFUL APOLOGY: But Fichter was jailed

During the police investigation, it was discovered that she had had sex with two other students as well.

Fichter was accused of 37 counts of sexual contact with a minor.

Prosecutors stressed that just because Fichter is female, and the male students were willing participants, that did not make the teenage boys less victimised.

'DEEP HEAT GLOVE ABUSE' PLAYER LYING, COURT TOLD

A FORMER Stoke City apprentice footballer who alleges he was physically assaulted by a former player as the club turned a "blind eye" has been accused of lying "for financial gain".

The former player, George Blackstock, 44, is claiming damages against the Premier League club and former goalkeeper Peter Fox, alleging he was twice subjected to 'The Glove' during the 1980s.

The then apprentice midfielder told Preston County Court the two alleged assaults between 1986 and 1988 occurred while he was held down by up to three other first team players.

He claims they led to a deterioration in his game and caused him post-traumatic stress.

Case continues.

'No' vote Greeks standing up to bully boys of Europe

OVER six million Greek citizens voted on Sunday in the nation's first referendum since the fall of the military Junta in 1974.

It followed a deadlock in negotiations between the Greek government and its creditors, the European Central Bank and the IMF.

German Chancellor Angela Merkel (right) and EU Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker insisted that a 'NO-OXI' vote would result in disaster, with Greece not only abandoning the Euro but being forced to leave, albeit temporarily, the European Union itself in an attempt to bully the Greeks into voting Yes.

The Greeks, founders of the very principle of democracy, were undeterred – and not only pushed ahead with the referendum in a safe and peaceful manner, but voted convincingly (61% to 39%) against the most recent bailout proposal, much to the horror of those in Brussels and Berlin.

A No vote has taken Greece into unknown territory for sure and the prospect of a GREXIT – Greece ditching the Euro – is now much more likely.

But the Greek people knew full well what a Yes vote would have entailed, and they did not like it one bit. A major sticking point of the last round of proposals from the German led Euro-group was the issue of VAT.

A Yes vote would have likely resulted in VAT on restaurants and hotels on popular holiday islands rising from 13% to 23%.

Without a doubt, this measure alone would have strangled what little there is left of the Greek economy as savvy British tourists spend their money in nearby Turkey instead.

Other Eurozone members are now very unhappy. Latest reports suggest that as many as 16 of the 18 other Eurozone members are now unprepared to deal with Greece and are happy to see them leave the single currency.

Greece is finding itself isolated – and this situation is not being helped by Mr Juncker, the ultra-federalist who should be keeping Europe together.

This week he had the temerity to call the referendum – the decision of the Greek people – "irrelevant".

That was no real surprise considering the EU is not a fan of direct democracy.

Remember their response to Ireland voting down the Lisbon Treaty in 2008? Desplicable.

I wonder how long until the Greeks are made to vote again until the "right" result is made.

The debt levels of Greece have ballooned to the extent that total government debt now stands at 320 billion euros, while the banks are close to collapse with cash machines running on empty.

And last week the Greeks fell into arrears after failing to pay the IMF 1.5 billion euros.

Greek Prime Minister Alexis Tsipras (left) is standing up to the bully boys of Europe, and the results of the referendum have given him a strong mandate to get the best possible deal from its creditors.

He wants debt relief for the Greeks, but the Germans are insisting on unpalatable structural reforms and cuts to pensions.

Greece must repay the European Central Bank 3.5 billion euros in less than two weeks, while public sector workers and pensioners need to be paid.

Could we see the return of the Drachma before the year is out?

I think that's certainly on the cards.

Justin Dunn's Room 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Why is sick 7/7 'victory' preacher still in Britain?

YESTERDAY was the 10th anniversary of the 7/7 bombings in London – the worst terrorist atrocity to ever happen on British soil.

That day 52 people died and scores more were seriously injured – many left with life-limiting injuries.

It was without doubt a dreadful day in our shared history – to some of us, anyway.

There's an Egyptian man living in London called Hani al-Sibai who, shortly after those terrible events in July 2005, actually praised the bombings.

Mr Sibai, who preaches on behalf of those nice people in al-Qaeda – the group behind the diabolical terror attack on the World Trade Center in New York in 2001 – was quite unequivocal.

He said at the time: "If al-Qaeda indeed carried out this act, it is a great victory for it."

"It rubbed the noses of the world's eight most powerful countries in the mud."

Yes. Mr Sibai called the atrocious deaths of 52 people in the city that has allowed him to make his home "a great victory".

And it gets worse. Mr Sibai – who lives on state handouts in a west London home paid for by a housing association – is alleged to have been involved in the radicalisation of young men in his local area.

One of them is Mohammed Emwazi, or to use his infamous nickname, Jihadi John.

In 2012, Mr Sibai delivered a video address to a conference organised by Ansar al-Sharia in Tunisia – the group suspected of radicalising Seiffeddine Rezgui, the nutcase who slaughtered 38 people there on June 26.

Now, Mr Sibai has been living here since the mid-90s after fleeing his homeland, where he was wanted as a suspected member of Egyptian Islamic Jihad, a group set up by al-Qaeda leader Ayman al-Zawahiri.

You might be wondering why on earth he's still here – after all, it would appear he's not the greatest fan of British values, to say the least.

Well guess what. It turns out that there have indeed been several attempts to deport Mr Sibai, but they have failed after he argued that it would be a breach of HIS human rights.

He claims he might face being tortured in his native Egypt, so insists he should stay here where he is free to spread his hatred of the West.

Ever since September 2005 – just two months after the July 7 attacks – Mr Sibai has been listed on a United Nations' Security Council list of individuals linked to al-Qaeda.

Furthermore, he is described as "a known figure within extremist circles".

That Security Council listing also says of Mr Sibai: "He uses an internet site, and other media, to support terrorist acts or activities undertaken by al-Qaeda as well as to maintain contact with a number of supporters around the world."

Ten years after those bombings – and just days after innocent sunbathing Brits were murdered in cold blood in Tunisia – Mr Sibai continues to live in London.

Is it just me, or has the world gone absolutely stark raving mad?

PENSIONER 'WAVED HIS STIFF COCK AT WOMAN'

Cheeky 73-year-old had no trousers on

By SAM BLEWETT news@sundaysport.co.uk

A PENSIONER was caught showing off his erect penis to a woman who called at his home.

Shameless Brian Phipps, 73, was arrested and admitted indecent exposure after he flashed a visitor who came to his house.

The shocked woman, who cannot be named for legal reasons, caught an eyeful of the septuagenarian in the reflection of a window as she called on his home in Croydon, south London.

Prosecutor Caroline Mungal said the victim "could see him standing, in the reflection of the back door window, standing there with no trousers on".

Hard

She added: "She could see his penis and ball sack. It was hard."

The visitor shouted for help and the cops were called.

In a statement to police, the victim said she believed Phipps had only exposed himself for her to see.

Phipps, who admitted indecent exposure last week, will be sentenced at Croydon Magistrates Court on July 22.

SAUCY Siobhan Murray has confessed: "I want strangers to watch me BONKING!"

The bra-bustin' 34D beauty revealed her HOTTEST sex fantasy – being caught in the act!

Siobhan, 23, from Bury, Lancs, said: "It sounds a bit rude, but I would love to have people watch me and my fella have sex."

"I just think it would be a bit of dirty fun knowing that somebody else was looking at us. Forget the risk factor – I just WANT people to see me!

“I’m not much of a voyeur myself, but I do like the idea of putting on a sexy show. It’s a proper turn-on.

“But I only like people watching, I wouldn’t want them to get involved or anything.

“That would kind of ruin the fantasy for me. As far as I’m concerned, it’s a strictly look-but-don’t-touch situation!”

THE MailOnline comments section went into OVERDRIVE last week after several Wimbledon players sullied the great sport by having... (gulp)... TATTOOS.

'American singles star Bethanie Mattek-Sands, 30, added a "splash of colour" with her floral arm tattoo', screamed one headline.

Meanwhile, Liam Broady, 21 – who defeated Australia's Marinko Matosevic in the first round – was likened to a "homeless person".

Fortunately, here at Midweek Sport we celebrate diversity of all kinds – including those who choose to have tattoos, piercings and other forms of body-modification.

Stunnas

And today we pay tribute with a collection of the very best TOPLESS tattooed stunnas!

Big Brother star Sallie Axl, 26, from Wirral, has admitted she loves FLASHING her whoppin' 32DD assets, adding: "Tits and tats, that's me!"

And she claimed: "I get my boobs out in public because I love it. I've got a great body and great tattoos – what's not to like?"

We most certainly agree with the blonde bombshell! And just check out inked models Ellis Cooper, 23, Mica Martinez, 25, Charlie Z, 32, and Gabriella Teeaar, 24.

Rod: Docs told me to ditch tight trousers!

ROCKER Rod Stewart was stopped from having kids by his ball gripping TROUSERS, his sexy wife revealed.

The Do You Think I'm Sexy singer had asked for medical help after struggling to conceive with model Penny Lancaster, 44.

And after taking advice to let his gonads loose, the 70-year-old's second child Aiden, now four, was born.

Rod, from Highgate, London, also ditched hot baths and swapped his tighty whities for boxers.

Penny said: "When Rod and I were trying to make our second child we were having a few troubles.

"A doctor said, 'Rod you've got to forget wearing the tight pants and the trousers'.

"Get rid of the Calvin Kleins – do loose boxer shorts and no hot baths."

The couple also have a nine-year-old son called Alastair.

Penny also advised dads-to-be to stay out of the kitchen to stop heat affecting fertility.

She added: "If you're trying to make a baby and are having problems, don't go near the oven."

Sex on family beach pervert is banged up

A MAN who had sex on a public beach in front of horrified families has been jailed for two and a half years.

Jose Caballero, 40, and Elissa Alvarez, 21, were convicted on two counts of lewd and lascivious behaviour when they were filmed bonking in Florida.

Caballero told jurors that he and Alvarez were not having sex and that witnesses were mistaken.

But jurors listened to graphic testimony from witnesses and saw a video of Alvarez moving on top of Caballero in a sexual manner in the middle of the day while others watched.

Prosecutors say they were tougher on Caballero because he previously served eight years for cocaine trafficking.

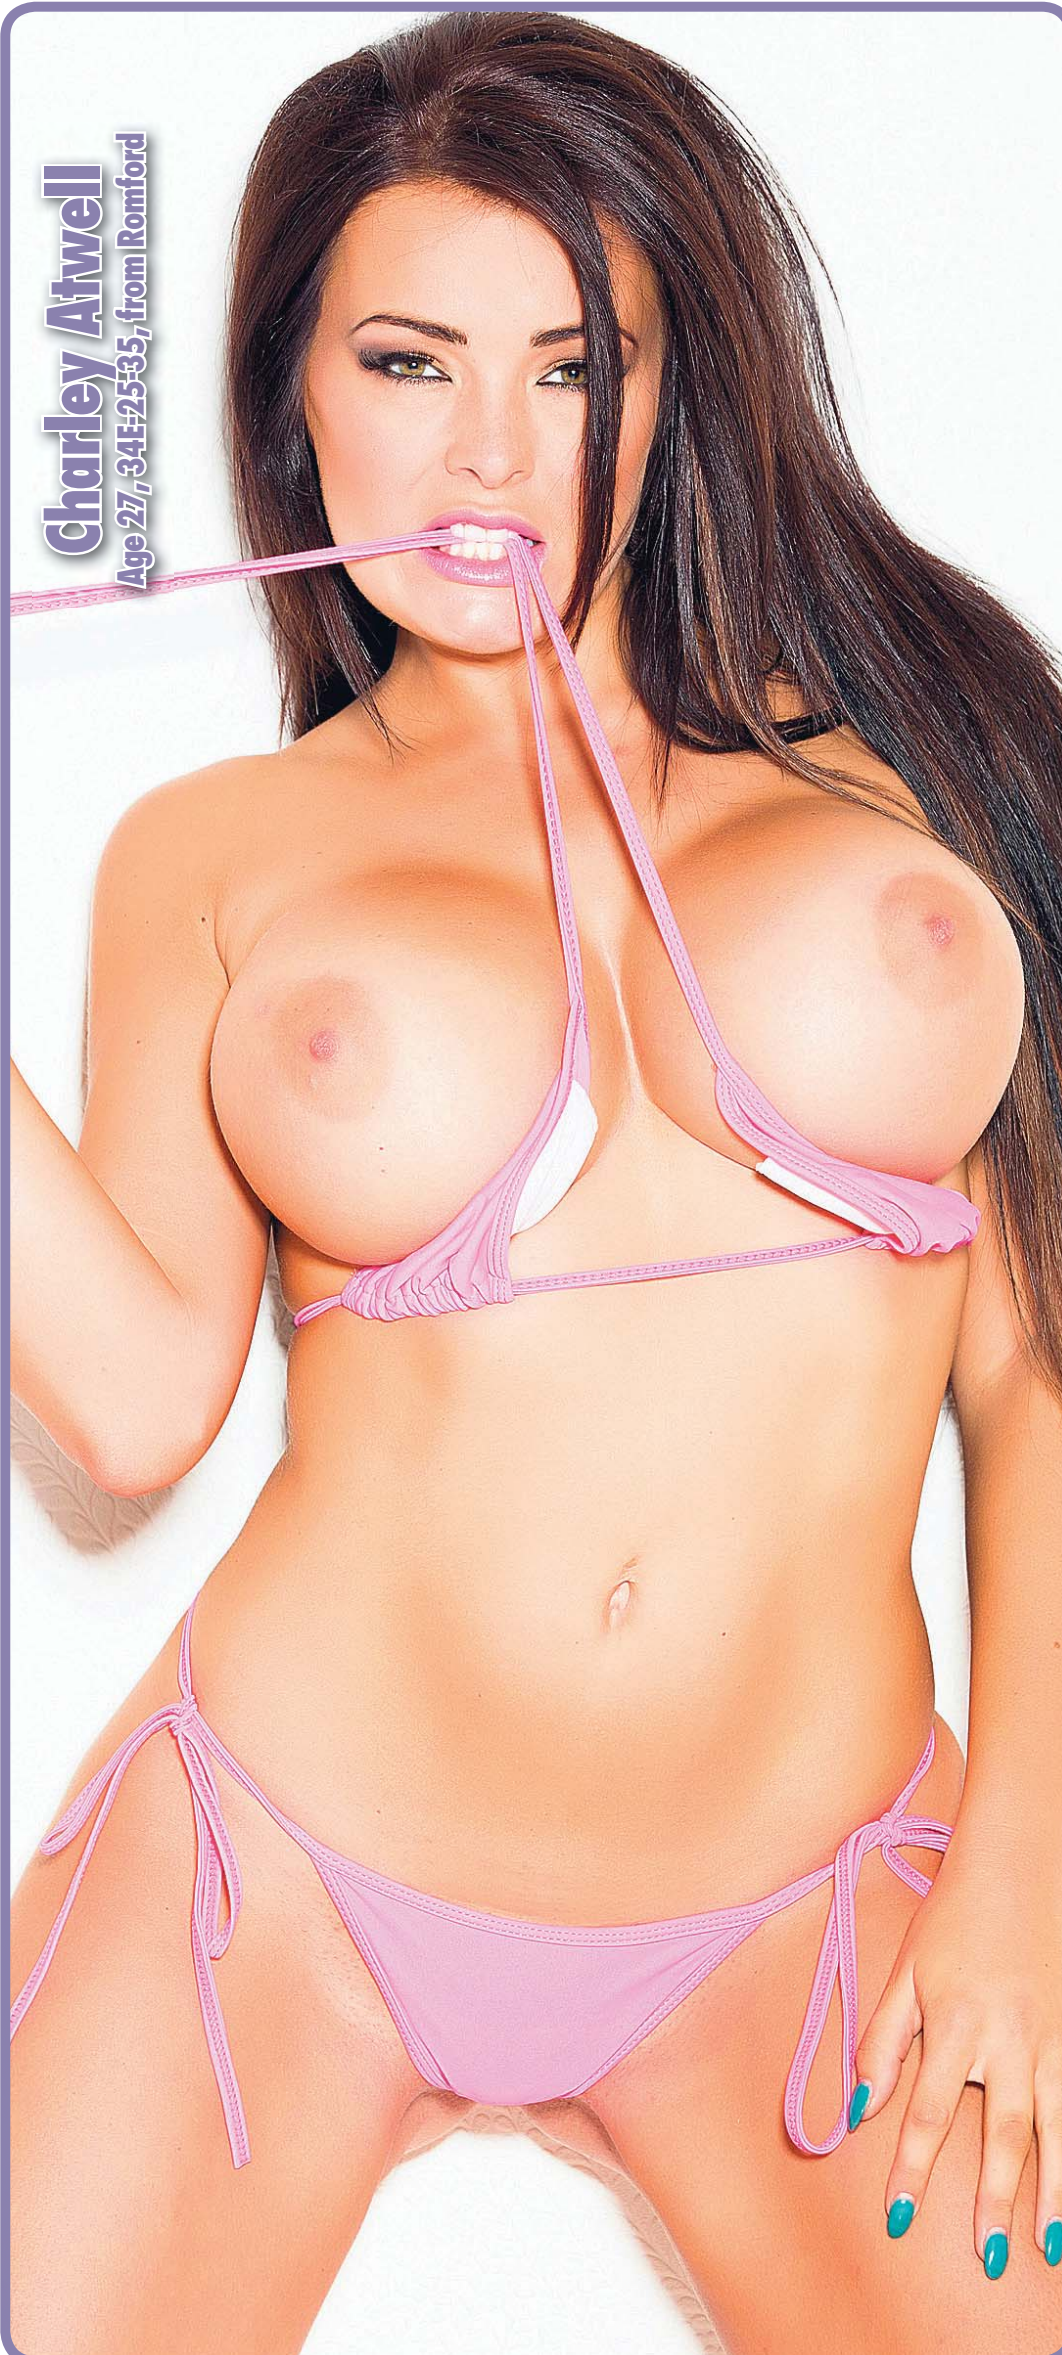

Both must now register as sex offenders.

Assistant State Attorney Anthony Dafonseca said: "If you think about 2:30 in the afternoon on a crowded beach. It takes a certain type of person to do that in front of children a few feet away."

Prosecutors said it was important people know what will not be tolerated on public beaches.

LAG GETS £480k FOR SIX DAY HARD-ON

STIFF SENTENCE: Rodney Cotton

A FORMER prisoner who suffered a six-day erection while in solitary confinement has been awarded £480,000 in compensation.

Rodney Cotton, 50, was left with permanent injuries to his penis after prison guards failed to take his pleas for help seriously.

The jailbird, from Brooklyn, was given the antidepressant Risperdal while at the Manhattan

Detention Complex for violating his parole in July 2011, according to documents seen by the New York Daily News.

The medication, prescribed by the prison infirmary, produced a painful erection which lasted six days.

Cotton originally filed an $11m (£7m) lawsuit against the city, the Department of Corrections and the city Health and Hospitals Corporation back in 2012.

Agony

The lawsuit claimed that Cotton suffered "permanent injuries to his penis" and "loss of function" due to the medical malpractice of doctors and guards who ignored his pleas for help.

The suit, filed in Manhattan's Supreme Court, said Cotton was left in agony and had difficulty walking but

was simply left in solitary confinement with an ice pack and ineffective painkillers.

He was eventually sent to Bellevue Hospital for emergency surgery in 2011.

The ex-con received a settlement of $750,000 (£480,000) this week, on the eve of his trial.

Nicholas Paolucci, a spokesman for the city Law Department, told the Daily News: "Settling the case was in the best interest of the city."

Cotton initially served two-and-a-half years behind bars in 2008 for illegally possessing the drug Vicodin.

He was jailed again in June 2011 for violating his parole by flipping a car.

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

BREAK-UP:
Kerry and George

● OH, dear! it's been a bad week for celebrity couples... Let's start with Kerry Katona, who reportedly DUMPED her husband George Kay after just nine months' marriage.

The couple started talking about marriage so early in their relationship, it was only a matter of time before things fell apart.

The problem with Kerry is her entire life is played out in newspapers, magazines and on reality TV... does she even have a private life?

Meltdown

When you're so involved with the media, it's hard to have a serious, grown-up relationship.

But I don't think anybody expected that relationship to last – especially after George's steroid meltdown last year.

Hopefully, she'll have better luck in the future.

Next up, we've got Scott Disick and Kourtney Kardashian – who have allegedly called it quits after nine years together.

The Keeping Up With The Kardashians star was fed up dealing with Scott's drinking problems and cheating rumours, sources claim. Personally, I don't think this will stick.

I've followed their ups and downs and you can tell how much she loves him.

Yes, they've had their problems in the past, but if Kourtney was going to break up with him, she would have done it years ago.

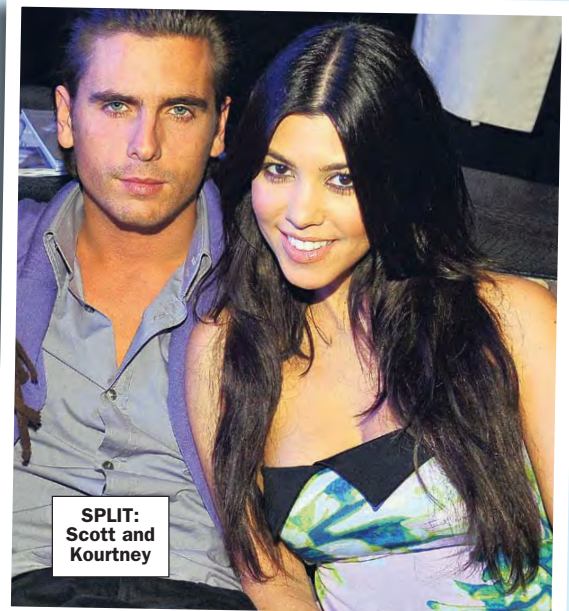

She loves him because he's wild and a bit stupid! This break-up won't last, take my word for it. They'll get back together in a couple of months.

And finally, we've got Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner, who are getting divorced after almost 10 years together.

The Hollywood couple released a joint statement last week, which pretty much tells you that the break-up is serious.

I always thought they were a good couple, but sometimes it just doesn't work out. It happens.

But I reckon Ben will be kicking himself. Jennifer is gorgeous and she won't have difficulty finding somebody else.

Cruel Katie's spiteful tweet is Hart-less!

SPAT: Hart with his new wife and (right) Katie

AS my loyal readers will know, I've become a big supporter of Katie Price.

She's opened so many doors for glamour models to work in TV, fashion and publishing – and she's a great mum to her five kids.

But I was forced to draw a line in the sand last week. Sorry, Katie, but you went too far this time.

Nasty

She posted a nasty tweet during the wedding of Joe Hart and his wife Kimberley Crew.

Katie wrote: "All Harts go out to the married couple is he going to tell her the truth about us xx".

What a f**king heartless thing to say! Why would you try to spoil another woman's wedding?

It's just disgusting behaviour.

I know Katie is outspoken – and, yes, she has been hurt by men in the past – but that was spiteful.

You can't possibly defend that.

As far as I know, Kimberley has never said anything bad about Katie.

Hopefully, it didn't spoil her special day. They look like a lovely couple.

I'm always quick to praise Katie in the right context, but last week she made herself look like TRAILER TRASH!

A few days ago, Kimberley responded by calling Katie a "clueless bimbo".

That's putting it mildly!

● I'VE got some exciting news, boys... I'm moving house! The next time you read my column, I'm going to be living in Brighton. And I can't wait!

I've spent the last couple of days packing up my stuff and having a good clear out.

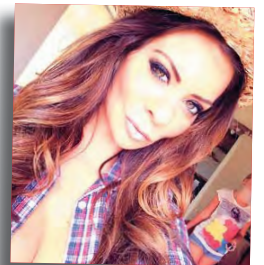

I found lots of old magazines, VHS tapes and memorabilia from back in the day. It brought back so many memories!

Meanwhile, I took a day off on Monday to shoot new photographs for my official website.

I was dressed up as a sexy cowgirl in a barn – check out my selfie – and then I went out in a rowing boat.

Hopefully you'll like the photos.

● IT'S been 10 years since the 7/7 terrorist attacks in London. Bombs exploded in the London Underground and 52 people were killed – and more than 700 were left injured.

And what did the terrorists gain? Nothing.

FORMER Pussycat Dolls star Nicole Scherzinger definitely has the SEX FACTOR!

The 37-year-old singer displays her bra-bustin' curves in her most daring TOPLESS pics.

Nicole, previously a judge on ITV's The X Factor, stripped naked for a sizzling photoshoot earlier this year.

She whipped 'em out in the sexy black-and-white snaps - showing her ex-boyfriend Formula 1 star Lewis Hamilton what he's missing!

Confident

The Don't Cha singer also gave fans a glimpse of her NIPPLES in a busty, see-thru top.

A source said: "Nicole was left heartbroken after breaking up with Lewis."

"But she's still a confident woman - and loves showing off her red-hot body!"

NAUGHTY Brandy Brewer has confessed her PUBLIC SEX fantasy!

The 26-year-old revealed that her biggest turn-on is kinky OUTDOOR romps.

Brandy, a perky 32C, said: "I grew up in Cornwall so there was always a field to sneak off into when you felt horny."

"The idea of being caught by a passer-by was a real turn-on and made the sex so much better."

"I'm now living in London, so if I see a good spot, I'll grab a bloke and head straight there!"

Aisleyne: I'll bonk anything with a pulse!

RANDY Big Brother blonde Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace has told how she's "on heat" after going without a shag for SEVEN MONTHS.

The horny 36-year-old said she will romp with "anything with a f**king pulse" when she comes out of the celebrity house this summer.

And London-born Aisleyne admitted she gets even randier after a pint or two – and even likes to LICK pal's faces.

She said: "I've been celibate for seven months, so I've got my eye on anything with a f**king pulse."

"I've got them lining up – and if I've had a drink, I'm on heat."

"I'm like a mad woman and I've got a tendency to lick people's faces."

"I'm always on the lookout for love, though."

The glamour model first entered Big Brother in 2006 and became famous for her clashes with fellow housemates.

She then became a reality TV regular and talk show guest before re-joining the series this year with former housemates Brian Belo, 27, Nikki Grahame, 33, and rival Helen Wood, 27.

Aisleyne added: "I agreed because I'm a legend."

WOMAN BEATS UP MAN WHO REFUSED HER SEX

THE TOOTH HURTS: Tabathia Grooms

Drunk also attacks cops

A WOMAN has been arrested after battering her boyfriend when he refused to have SEX with her.

Tabathia Lee Grooms, 35, started hitting and scratching her partner when she came home after a night out.

She said she was angry that he refused her advances earlier that day, so she scratched him on the face, head and neck, then bit him on the arm.

He managed to escape to the bathroom where he called the police.

Punched

When officers arrived Grooms would not give her name at first and threatened to run over one cop with a pram.

She admitted she had been drinking.

Grooms also punched her 66-year-old mother in the eye during the ordeal, according to the incident report.

By ANN COATES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

She was arrested and charged with simple battery family violence and later held at the Richmond County jail, in Augusta, US.

A police insider said: "No-one one through the whole station could blame the guy for saying 'no'."

"She's got the teeth of a Kentucky Derby winner. Even so, you don't expect to get beaten up for it."

"You'd have thought she'd be used to being turned down by now."

Cosby got drugs to give to women he was chasing

BILL Cosby's admission that he got sedatives to give young women he was pursuing for sex could bolster defamation claims lodged by his accusers, the women's lawyers have said.

The 77-year-old American comedian and actor, in sworn testimony unsealed yesterday, admitted that he gave the now-banned sedative Quaalude to at least one of his accusers and to unnamed others.

His lawyer interfered before he could answer deposition questions in 2005 about how many women were given drugs and whether they knew about it.

Lisa Bloom, lawyer for model Janice Dickinson, who contends she was drugged and raped, said: "If today's report is true, Mr Cosby admitted under oath 10 years ago sedating women for sexual purposes."

Cosby has been accused by more than 24 women of sexual misconduct in episodes dating back more than four decades.

He has never been charged with a crime.

YOU wouldn't miss a day at the office with these TOPLESS stunnas!

Brand new comedy Not Safe For Work continues this week on Channel 4.

The programme follows civil servant Katherine (Zawe Ashton) who is relocated from London to Northampton after public service cuts.

According to the Guardian, it's a "scathingly funny look at twentysomething life in the 21st Century".

But who f**king cares about that? It's jam-packed full of NAKED telly stars!

Peaky Blinders star Sophie Rundle, 27, plays admin woman Jenny - who has literally never left Northampton.

And we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal she whipped 'em out in BBC sitcom Episodes back in 2012.

Stunning

Sophie plays Matt Le Blanc's female stalker, Labia - and shows off a magnificent pair of all-natural norks during the second series.

Meanwhile, Anastasia Hille plays Jeffries, a human resources manager who is on the brink of a nervous breakdown.

Fans will remember her stunning TOPLESS scene in 1999 comedy Five Seconds To Spare.

A Channel 4 source said: "They're absolutely cracking, aren't they?"

Not Safe For Work airs Tuesdays at 10pm on Channel 4. Catch up on-demand now on All 4.

Morgan web quiz punters take the Piers

TELLY star Piers Morgan got a drubbing yesterday when he took to Twitter and invited followers to quiz him online.

Using the hashtag #AskPiers, the former Daily Mirror editor and Britain's Got Talent judge was bombarded with questions from his 4.5million followers.

EatMyRainbow asked "Is it true the anagram of your name is c**t?" Olliris17 asked: "Any chance you could stop supporting Arsenal? You're an utter 3 game a season c**t."

Keith Chegwin – not the real one – asked: "Just how many different kinds of c**t are you?"

Paula posed: "If a tree falls in the forest and there's nobody around to hear it, are you still a c**t?"

Not everyone called Morgan a c**t, though. Chandni from London asked: "Why are you such a twat?"

Others simply hurled general abuse.

WendB asked: "Do you smell of piss or biscuits?"

Bum's the word for sexy Sam

FORMER Emmerdale star Sammy Winward has blurted out: "I love my curvy bum!"

But the 29-year-old actress is worried fans will think she's too cocky if she shows it off!

Sammy, from Bolton, Gtr Manchester, said: "What's my favourite part of my body? I hate this question!"

"I've said, 'I love my bum' before and it just makes me sounds like I love myself."

"On the flip side, if I say I hate something, it sounds like I hate the way I look – so you can't win!"

"I'm quite happy with my body. Yes, I have a few flaws – as everybody does – but generally I'm pleased with what I've got."

Sammy (above) played Katie Sugden on the ITV soap for 14 years before quitting earlier this year.

Speaking of her departure, she said: "I miss everybody terribly but I'm still in contact with them, so it's fine."

"But it has been quite weird watching it and knowing I'm not going to come on in a scene."

Tower tourists get a real Eiffel

A SWISS artist has been arrested for posing naked for selfies with tourists in front of the Eiffel Tower as part of her art performance.

Milo Moire, 31, spent the night in jail in Paris for public indecency during her "naked selfie performance".

The artist and model had been approaching passers-by and taking selfies with them at the Trocadero square when police arrived, ordered her to put her clothes on and then led her away.

Moire performed the same naked selfie piece in June in Basel, Switzerland, without any problems from the police.

And last year in Cologne, Germany, she even performed a piece of "action painting" involving squeezing eggs filled with paint out of her flange onto a canvas in front of the Art Cologne.

Adele: I loved all my topless photoshoots!

FORMER soap babe Adele Silva has confessed: "I'm PROUD to show off my boobs!" The 34-year-old actress – who shot to fame on ITV1's Emmerdale – also posed TOPLESS for lads' mags during her glamour modelling days. And despite focusing on her TV career, Adele says she does NOT regret stripping off. She revealed: "I used to do lots of lads' mag shoots, but I wouldn't revisit them. "I don't regret them, but I'm 34 now and I've got a child, so I'll leave it to the younger girls." Adele, who found fame playing Kelly Windsor on the Dales show, was recently offered the role of foster parent Angela Brown on Hollyoaks. Speaking of the Channel 4 drama she said: "I've watched Hollyoaks since the beginning, so I was really pleased when I was offered the part."

Man 'elated' after sawing off arm

A MAN has described the moment he chopped off his own arm with a saw because of a bizarre metal disorder. Jason Montague suffers from body integrity identity disorder – a condition that makes you believe it necessary to have healthy limbs amputated. After taking a circular saw and chopping off his arm, Jason said: "The decision to remove my hand had been made my whole life. I kept coming up with excuses why not to do it, but I kind of knew it was something I always had to do. "Immediately after I was elated, relieved, horrified fascinated, excited – every emotion except dismay." Jason's family do not know about his condition and instead believe he suffered a horrific workplace injury.

Knickers to you, Ruby!

By SAM WALKER news@sundaysport.co.uk

ORANGE Is the New Black stunna Ruby Rose caught her first whiff of fame last week – after a female fan threw her used KNICKERS on stage.

The model, 29, was performing a DJ set in New York over the weekend. And Ruby Rose, who plays lesbian inmate Stella in the latest series of the Netflix prison drama, was left SHOCKED after somebody from the crowd threw a pair of frilly pink PANTIES at her decks! Luckily, the Australian-born star – and her long-term girlfriend Phoebe Dahl, 26 – saw the funny side and laughed it off. Ruby Rose has gained an army of lesbian fans after FLASHING her curves on the award-winning show.

Weird

The heavily tattooed former MTV star stripped off during a slippery, fully NAKED shower scene opposite on-screen lover Piper Chapman, played by Taylor Schilling. Ruby Rose, from Melbourne, recently told how she struggled in Hollywood for two years before her 'big break'. She said: "It was freakishly weird. I couldn't get an audition, I couldn't get anything. "But I'm guessing they saw this video I posted online. I thought it would be a small thing but it went viral, it went crazy."

CROONER Michael Bublé claimed he was left "heartbroken" after he was caught cheating on his ex-girlfriend Emily Blunt.

The Devil Wears Prada star, 32, DUMPED the Canadian singer back in 2008 after a woman sold a kiss-and-tell story about their affair.

But according to a survey by AshleyMadison.com, his NAME was to blame.

The extramarital dating site has released a list of their members' most popular first names.

And, surprisingly, Michael came top of the pile – followed by Jason and Christopher.

When it comes to the opposite sex, girls called Jennifer, Jessica and Amanda are most likely to cheat.

Cheating

Ashley Madison founder Noel Biderman said: "We often associate people's names with having a particular personality trait or quality – and it seems Jennifer and Michael could be associated with infidelity."

Other male names to appear in the top ten cheating list are: Jacob, James, Daniel, Oliver, Harry, William and Thomas.

And if your missus is named Emily, Elizabeth, Emma, Lucy, Olivia, Lily or Sophie, then it may be time to check her internet history.

Midweek Sport babe Sabrina Murphy, 24, said: "It's not a guy's name that's important.

"If he gives me what I want in the bedroom, then I'll call him whatever he likes!

"But he better not cheat on me! I would never stand for that."

Two guys join in – hands & tongues exploring me

KINKY Aria Giovanni fantasises about being ravaged at a high-class ORGY.

The 34D pin-up admits she'd love to visit a high-class sex party in a big posh mansion.

The lesbian porn star and Penthouse Pet has already had a threesome with an ex-boyfriend and a model pal.

But now Aria, from Long Beach, California, has an overpowering urge to take on more guys – and girls – in the bedroom. The 37-year-old said: "Group sex is the ultimate taboo. It's so animalistic and utterly hedonistic."

"I've always been quite experimental in bed. When I had a threesome – quite spontaneously – it was a massive turn-on."

"I've always found watching group sex and gangbangs in porn really horny. But it's unlikely you're ever going to fall into an orgy accidentally, so I've told myself, 'You only live once' and I've decided to go for it."

"I've seen sex parties advertised in these huge mansions."

Slutty

"One was a masked ball, like in the Tom Cruise film Eyes Wide Shut, which sounds thrilling."

"I can just imagine, after having a few drinks and some conversation, one guy starting to kiss and caress me while everyone else watches. Then I fantasise about another couple of guys joining in, all of their hands and tongues exploring my body."

"I imagine a hot girl joining in and all the guys getting turned on watching me and her being naughty."

"There's something so erotic and freeing about letting go of your inhibitions and doing something you know is slutty and promiscuous."

"I'd like everyone to keep their masks on throughout the whole thing to maintain the mystery."

They f***ing LUV IT and you will too! Just text luv to 89248 and we'll put you in touch.

If you'd like to sext a lady from your own area just leave a space and then add your postcode after the trigger word. It's dead easy...give it a go and you'll soon be losing your mess over a grateful old girl!

We've been offering this service for over ten years so we know exactly what you want:

1. You want the hottest ladies. We're very thorough in our selection process to ensure that there are no time-wasters.

2. You want local ladies. Unlike some services we have women from all over the UK so there's sure to be one from near you.

3. You don't want to be ripped off. It's straight to the good stuff with our girl. They will only answer your text if they are in the mood, too and will keep on texting you till you are full spent!

If you are new to text sex then this is the perfect service for you. Let one of our experienced older ladies take you in hand and make sure you have the perfect first time. After that we know you'll be coming back for more!

Seaside threeway cost me a fortune

Dear Kyla,

I'VE had some of the wildest sexual adventures of my life in Blackpool but recently I've been put off.

I go there every year on my holidays and never fail to get my end away.

The tacky aspects of Blackpool attract a certain class of bird – by that I mean dirty as f**k!

Last week I was there with some mates and we ended up at a nightclub.

There were loads of birds in those glittery 70s wigs and they were all dancing on the tables with their tiny knickers on view.

I copped off with a mother and daughter and that blew my mind.

We all went back to my B&B and I couldn't believe my luck when the pair of them stripped off and joined me in bed for a steamy threesome.

I'd never got off with two women at the same time before so this was a chance to tick it off my bucket list at least.

The mother got straight down to sucking my cock, while her daughter sat on my face and rubbed her sopping wet minge over my lips and nose.

It didn't take me long to shoot my load into the mother's mouth as she gently stroked my bollocks while taking me to the back of her throat.

Pounding

They then took it in turns to tease me back to hardness before swapping positions so I was licking out the mum while her daughter sucked me off.

Just before I was about to blast off for the second time I got the daughter on all fours and started pounding into her as her mum played with herself.

It was frantic stuff and all three of us were groaning away in pleasure as we thrutched away.

We were at it like that for the rest of the night but the sex was so energetic that we ended up breaking the bloody bed!

And in the morning, when I told the landlord what had happened to the bed, he told me to pay for a new one – and charged it to my credit card!

I don't know the girls' address to ask them to chip in.

What shall I do?

MM, Glasgow

Kyla says...

SOUNDS like a great night – why not go back there on the same week next year and look for the girls!

Letter of the day

Dear Kyla,

I'M a 21-year-old lad and for the last six months I've been working at a gym where I've become friendly with one of the cleaners.

She is 40 and married with three kids, but has still got a great body.

A few weeks back she was cleaning the reception desk and I could see her G-string poking out of the top of her jeans.

She caught me having a glimpse and then led me to the toilets.

Quickly, she locked the door behind us and pushed me down onto the loo seat.

Then she stripped naked – showing me her mazing tits and arse.

By this time, I'd whipped my cock out and was tugging away while she slipped a couple of fingers inside her dripping pussy.

Then she got on her knees and sucked my throbbing cock until I exploded all over her face.

I then bent her over the toilet and boned her doggy-style while sticking a finger up her bum.

I feel a bit guilty because she's married.

What do you think?

WS, Sussex

Kyla says...

GET it while you can. A swinger like this won't be feeling any guilt.

Too sexy for hubby

Dear Kyla,

HOW can I stop my husband going off like a firecracker when we're having sex?

Two tugs on his plonker and he's nearly there. And his shelf-life, when he does get it up, can be counted down in seconds.

I've stopped undressing in front of him because he gets so excited.

Last week I dressed up in a basque, fishnet stockings, suspenders and crotchless knickers and called him up to the bedroom for a session.

I could tell he was trying hard to control himself by the beads of sweat on his face.

He sat on the bed as I teased him but when I took out his hard manhood he blew his load right in my eye.

He says it could be because we only do it once a year on his birthday.

Could he be right?

NR, Dorset

Kyla says...

I THINK he might be. Maybe if you had sex with him more often he would learn to relax and control himself.

Dear Kyla,

I WENT to a family wedding recently with my missus.

After the ceremony, held at a smart country house hotel, I headed for the bar and got stuck in to the ale.

We were staying over and there was the evening "do" to come, so after a few tilts, I went for a lie down in our room.

I was dozing in just my boxers when I was aware of someone else in the room.

I thought it couldn't be the missus as I'd left her downstairs.

A hand lightly traced its way up my leg and into my shorts, sending my cock skywards. And when I opened one eye it was my wife's sister!

She was sloshed but she started to tease my todger with her tongue and gave me a great a blowjob. She never uttered a word and nor did I.

We made eye contact at the evening reception later on but nothing was said.

What was all that about?

JK, Chester

Kyla says...

BEST just to count your blessings, I'd say.

Dear Kyla,

I'VE just returned from a lads' holiday in Ireland which was amazing.

By the end of our first night my mates had porked several fat birds.

I'd promised my wife I'd be faithful but on the last night I was really drunk and lost my pals.

I decided to make my own way back to the hotel and got a little lost trying to find my room.

At the end of a corridor I caught two women necking outside a room. They told me they were both lesbians who enjoyed having an audience sometimes.

I sat on a chair in their room as they got stuck into each other on the bed.

They were soon taking it in turn to lick one another's fannies. Finally they let me jerk off over their tits.

Last weekend I told my wife about it and now she wants a divorce.

What did I do wrong?

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest...

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

SYLVIA BARRIE

BIG Brother babe Sylvia Barrie is the choice of charity fundraiser Tony Payne, 32. Tony, from Birmingham, reckons the busty reality star is his "favourite" Midweek Sport girl.

Sylvia, from London, recently appeared on BBC's South Side Story, about a group of performers trying to 'break' the entertainment industry.

But the 28-year-old launched her telly career by stripping off for Britain's BREAST newspaper!

She flaunted her whoppin' 32DDs for several raunchy photoshoots, but hasn't been in the Sport for a while.

Tony told us: "I've always liked Sylvia, so could you please print another photo? It's been ages!"

"Nobody is more pleased than me that her TV career is taking off – but I'll always be a fan of her glamour work."

KELLI SMITH

TECH entrepreneur James Kingsley is so infatuated with 25-year-old Kelli Smith's massive 32D charms, he wants to offer her a job!

The 32-year-old, from Islington, London, said: "I'm doing pretty well for myself and I've just moved into a new office. The only problem is there's no sexy women!"

"Kelli lives in Derby, so would have to relocate, but she would be a great addition to the team."

"She wouldn't even have to know how to do anything – I'd be happy just to sit there staring at her!"

REBECCA CROW

FIRE-EATER Rebecca Crow is RED-HOT, according to Sport reader Henry Cunningham, 54.

Henry, 54, a medical assistant from Wales, says that 21-year-old Rebecca is "the best tattooed model in Britain".

The Camden-born stunna also performs with alternative circus act Cyanide Girls – which includes fire breathing, stripping and rock 'n' roll!

Henry said: "I've always preferred girls with tattoos and piercings – I just think it's really sexy."

"I saw one of her circus performances last year and it was pretty intense."

"But I'm not sure if she's still modelling."

"So would you mind printing a topless picture? I'd really appreciate it."

WILD PARTY NIGHTS ARE HEN-SATIONAL!

HEN nights are getting more outrageous than ever... as over HALF of women admit getting frisky with a male stripper!

According to a shock poll, approximately 54 per cent admit to partying with a stripper during their last, wild night of freedom.

And almost one in six confess to snogging or having a kinky one-night stand!

The survey by Hen Party HQ – Britain's biggest online seller of hen night party packs – reveals what women REALLY get up to at their pre-wedding bash.

Almost a third of partygoers reckon they have a BETTER time than blokes on a stag do.

And a further 23 per cent say they behave more outrageously than men!

Unsurprisingly, six out of 10 women admit it's best NOT to tell the guys what they got up to

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE joseph@sundaysport.co.uk on a hen night. And just 43 per cent claim they would speak up afterwards if somebody had behaved "inappropriately".

Richard Longhurst, from Hen Party HQ, said: "Hen parties are becoming a lot simpler and cheaper than they used to be – but they remain as outrageous as ever."

"And there is a definite feeling among girls – just as there is with fellas – that what happens on tour, stays on tour."

"So if some do go a bit over-the-top with a stripper, there is no way most women are letting on!"

Joanna Jensen says...

MY boyfriend used to work as a male stripper and 'Butler in the Buff' during university – and I've heard some pretty wild stories from the hen nights!

Apparently, the bridesmaids are proper horny and ask for private dances from the boys!

And yes, there were quite a few badly-behaved brides-to-be... I feel sorry for their poor husbands!

Fortunately, my fella works in an office now – so I can keep him under control. Ha-ha!

Maria McRae says...

YOU can't have a good hen night without a male stripper, can you?

My best mate Katie got married last year and we all ended up at the local strip club for Ladies' Night.

I was expecting it to be like Magic Mike, so was left a bit disappointed! But it was still plenty of fun, even though the strippers weren't that attractive. They were really funny and charming. They sprayed us with whipped cream and chased us around the club!

They didn't make you feel uncomfortable or anything like that. It wasn't sexual, just hilarious!

Alexis Cole says...

MY mate had a cheeky snog with a male stripper at a hen party. It was so funny!
She's a single girl, so she wasn't doing anything wrong. Basically, he was giving all us girls lap dances and my friend decided to kiss him.
He kept trying to pull away but she was dragging him back – we just couldn't stop laughing!
The morning after, she couldn't remember anything... and she had a hangover.

Let's raid the bookie chaps

THE last four headline tips in my column have all won and I'm confident of hitting five on the bounce in the Midweek Sport.

Forget about today, the best bets all come on Thursday at Hove. The action is covered live on RPTV Sky channel 212, so make sure you ditch those soaps and hit that number on the remote.

The NAP last week was Hooverville who duly obliged but I think he's worth taking on tonight with the talented home raider.

I'm a big fan of this greyhound in the stripes and I can see him pinging here which will make him tough to beat.

Swift Merlot is unlucky to still be a Maiden but tonight I expect him to shed that tag in style. He's finished runner-up twice at this level and from the trap-one slot I'm expecting him to go one better.

Loughteen Pedro has been a big friend to us of late and I've no plans to desert him. I'm just a big fan of his, ok there's faster dogs but he gives it his maximum every race and that's worth its weight in gold.

Last but not least My Mate Max was beaten by arguably the best pup in the land on Derby final night when he went down bravely to Teds Last. I don't like punting greyhounds without a recent look at the track but he looks to be potentially superior to this opposition.

Hove Best Bets Thursday

NAP - T6 Home Raider 19.46
NB - T1 Swift Merlot 19.31
TREBLE - T1 Loughteen Pedro 20.50
YANKEE - T5 My Mate Max 20.02

STAY UP TO DATE WITH THE GBGB

One website you must have in your favourites is the brilliant www.gbgb.org.uk the sports governing body have everything covered including: Previews, Reports, Interviews, Results, My Kennel Feature, History, Upcoming Races and lots more. If you love greyhound racing then quite simply you'll love this website.

Starting this Saturday you can watch FREE video previews on Twitter @MickLivesey I will be previewing this amazing bet and trying my best to find you the winners. Let's scoop a fortune together!

TOP MAN:
13/5 Root

A NICE LITTLE URNER

WHEN you pick up the European Cup you need both hands.

Soccer's premier compo commands a massive trophy, one you would not fancy dropping on your big toe.

But this summer's huge sporting occasion commands a prize so big it is dwarfed by my youngest daughter's favourite Barbie doll.

The Ashes starts today.

A bitterly fought contest between England and Australia but whoever wins will wind up with a trophy which is precisely four inches tall. And it's an urn.

You wouldn't fancy the spooky thing on your mantelpiece.

The history of the Ashes is precious, though. It parades some of the best cricket ever witnessed. From A through to Z you can catalogue the finest leather on willow we have ever seen.

But you only need to delve as far as the second letter to find the man responsible for revitalising the modern ver-

Smith and Root can run away with it

sion of the old us and them. Allan Border revolutionised Aussie cricket with a tough mettle that underpinned a generation of glory.

At the start he was an unwilling leader, his players soon called him Captain Grumpy – but they quickly learned that he was a winner.

In 1987 he led them to World Cup victory, beating England in the final, and then, in the 1989 Ashes, his team handed out a right kicking.

Hitting six half-centuries in a 4-0 win, Border's contribution to the cause earned him the Australian of the Year award, and things continued in similar vein, the urn retained by 3-0 in 1990-91 and 4-1 in 1993. The culture he imposed sustains now.

This year's Ashes takes in five venues. Cardiff today followed by Lord's, Edgbaston, Trent Bridge and The Oval.

A lot has happened in the brief time since the last Ashes series.

England are on their second coach, they've sacked their best batsman and spent 18 months trying and failing to justify that decision, they've replaced their one-day skipper and suffered a foul World Cup. They've also lost Jonathan Trott and Matt Prior to retirement.

In the same time, Australia have won the World Cup and watched Steve Smith blossom into the world's best batsman.

The loss of Ryan Harris just before the series is a blow given his form and reputation across the last two Ashes series.

His performance in England two years ago especially.

But the fact that even fully fit he was far from certain to play in the first Test tells you everything you need to know about Australia's bowling strength. They are a bit good.

Admittedly it is difficult betting on cricket. One mistake by the fella you support and your pounds are down the pan.

But we think we have identified a fairly safe little double over the series.

The aforementioned Smudger is a general 9/4 to be top-scoring Australian batsman across the series and that has to be like finding it in the street. Smith is light years ahead of his peers and only injury can prevent us collecting on that.

Likewise, albeit at a smaller price, Joe Root is flowering as England's finest batsmen and to be allowed odds-against him being England's finest this summer is daylight robbery. He's 13/5 at best.

The double pays a kick in the arse off 10/1. Get on.

BET: 2pt double: Steve Smith (top Aussie scorer for series) 9/4; Joe Root (top England scorer for the series) 13/5.

HAMMER BOOKIES WITH A 3-0 DON DOUBLE

SUMMER time and the living is easy.

Clearly neither Ira Gershwin nor Ella Fitzgerald had any conceivable concept of the Europa League.

West Ham and Aberdeen are, for a second time this hot-spot, pressed into soccer service.

We are not going to get rich on the double, we know that.

The odds are laughable.

West Ham are 1/19 about beating Lusitanos. Away.

Come on fellas, I wouldn't bet 19 quid to one about me not getting hit by a bus tomorrow.

The Dons are a shade more respectably priced at 1/5 facing minnows Shkendija

HAM MAN:
Boss Bilic

79. But put a pound double on those two and you are rewarded with the princely profit of 26 pence per pound.

Sorry, sooner get hit by the bus.

So what are we going to do for a bet? West Ham were 3-0 winners in the first leg.

Thy were not flattered, they deserved it. The same correct score is a best-priced 5/1 at Coral.

The Aberdonians put away 79 with comfort in the first leg but you can get 6/1 about another 3-0 scorline.

Okay its a daft bet but stick 20 pence on for a bit of interest.

BET: Small change double, West Ham 3-0 and Aberdeen 3-0 at around 40/1.

WIMBLEDON 2015: ALL THE SW19 ACTION*SHOW US YER*Pos can cope with Murray's fanclub

VASEK Pospisil is gunning for another British scalp when he takes on Andy Murray at Wimbledon today.

The Czech ace has already sent home favourite Jamie Ward out of the tournament and doesn't care if everyone is against him on centre court.

In fact, he relishes playing in front of a hostile crowd although the Wimbers faithful aren't exactly the Chelsea headhunters! Pospisil has made it to the tennis big time the hard way. After his family fled the communists at home, he grew up in Canada.

There he used to walk miles in the snow to go training at his nearest indoor court.

So a few "come on Andys" from middle-aged primary school teachers aren't likely to put him off his centre court stroke.

The 25-year-old world number 56 fancies his chances of causing a shock against Murray.

He said: "It doesn't really faze me too much playing in front of crowds that are against me."

"I like playing in front of big crowds in general."

Best

"It doesn't matter if they are against me or cheering for me."

"Obviously I'd prefer they are on my side, but I tend to play well in those kinds of situations."

"So I'm not worried about that, really."

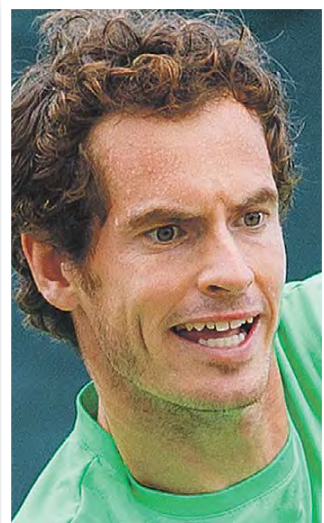

Pospisil has already won one Wimbledon title, when taking the doubles in SW19 last season.

That was an amazing comeback after a severe bout of glandular fever 12 months earlier had threatened to kill his career.

And he thinks the experience of taking that title will stand him in good stead this afternoon.

"I had one centre court experience, and it was a great one," said Pospisil.

"I'm looking forward to going out there again, and, you know, giving it my best for sure in every point.

"I realise that it's going to be a tough feat to accomplish, to beat Andy here at Wimbledon, his home court."

"I will try and take the positive memories of last year and my good form from this past week."

And there was a boost for the Murray family as Jamie made it to the doubles semi-final.

Along with Aussie partner John Peers, Andy's older brother got the better of Alexander Peya and Bruno Soares 6-4, 7-6, (7/3) 6-3.

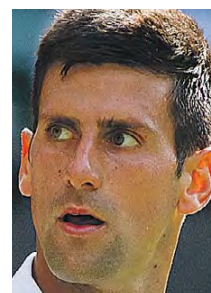

The 29-year-old Scot has one Wimbo crown already from when he won the mixed doubles with Jelena Jankovic eight years ago.

And the pair looked in good form with Peers serving well throughout the match with Judy Murray cheering them on from the stands.

Let's hope she has another simple afternoon watching her younger son today.

BRITS!

COME ON: Pospisil in full voice

SEMI ON: Djokovic

Wimbo a telly turn off for Andy

ANDY Murray says he never bothers watching any of the other Wimbledon matches.

And he certainly won't clap eyes on Novak Djokovic in action before he potentially takes him on in the semis.

So the Scot might have no idea that his main rival for the title blasted his way past Kevin Anderson in their one-set shootout yesterday.

That set up a quarter-final against big server Marin Cilic today.

Murray said: "I will check the app and follow the live scores during the day but I don't sit and watch a whole set."

"When I'm getting ready I'll just catch a few points here and there."

"If I was to play Novak or Kevin Anderson in the next round, I might take a bit of a closer look, but it's such a long way away from affecting me that at this stage I'm not following it closely."

"Maybe later on in the tournament, if I was to play against one of them, I might make more of an effort to see how it's going."

Murray hopes Vasek Pospisil will be tired ahead of today's clash.

He said: "Pospisil had a great win over Viktor Troicki in singles earlier in the day, which meant he played 10 sets on Monday."

"I don't know if that will affect him when we play but, selfishly, I hope so. He's played a lot of tennis with three five-setters."

"The plus is that on grass the matches aren't as long but Vasek has spent quite a lot of time on the court so far."

TOUGH: Vandeweghe

MARIA GETS OVA THE LINE

By ANNETTE COURT

MARIA Sharapova was pushed all the way by Coco Vandeweghe as she made the semis.

The big-serving American took it to a deciding set but the Russian bombshell won out 6-3, 6-7 (3/7), 6-2.

The 2004 champ cruised through the first set but her serve let her down in the second as the New Yorker drew level.

The final set was a lot tighter than the 6-2 scoreline suggests and Sharapova knows she's been in a battle but she made it into her 20th Grand Slam semi-final.

She said: "It's been a while since I've been at that stage so I'm really happy with every match."

"You have to give everything you have on a special occasion."

"You're playing to be one of the last four in one of the world's biggest tournaments."

The serve is the area that Sharapova will have to boost if she's going to win a second Wimbledon crown.

It particularly let her down in the second set where she served for the match. A few wayward efforts gave Vandeweghe the chance to break and she took it — and rammed home the mistake by clinching the tie-break.

Sharapova added: "I was pretty dominant in the first and beginning of the second set and things slipped away a little for me in the tie-break."

"I really regrouped and obviously she was playing with a lot of confidence and had nothing to lose."

"Obviously when you're in a position to win it, sometimes it doesn't quite go your way and then you go back to the thing that helped you win that first set."

The decibel levels were a little ridiculous as the Russian screamed louder and louder as the game went on.

And on several occasions the American moaned at the umpire about Sharapova moving in her eyeline as she was serving.

Vandeweghe's granny was Miss America back in the 50s and the striking blonde has inherited the family's good looks.

She says she's now serious about her tennis at the age of 23 and she has all the attributes — on and off the court — to be a superstar if she can build on this best ever Grand Slam effort.

GO WITH THE 10/1 MO!

THE first Ashes Test begins in Cardiff this morning with Australia 10/11 at BetVictor to take a 1-0 lead to Lords next week.

For much of the last 12 months I have thought the series would be a no-contest but the nearer we get to the action getting under way the more I think England are not without a chance although I do have major reservations about their top order.

England are 3/1 to draw first blood with the stalemate 9/4 and much is expected of vice-captain Joe Root who is 10/3 to be top England scorer in the first innings and that is the recommendation.

The jury is out for me on Gary Ballance as a Test number three and I wonder if we have seen the best of Ian Bell who will bat four.

Ballance has had an almost typical England preparation for Test cricket. Born in Zimbabwe he played for Zimbabwe under 19s, went to Harrow and made his Test debut against the Baggy Greens in the final Test of the last series in Sydney at the beginning of 2014. He scored 18 and 7 (batted six) at the SCG but has subsequently improved his Test record to an excellent average of over 50; until now. He averaged nine in four innings against New Zealand earlier in the summer and I doubt he will be in the side for the final Test at the Oval next month.

ALI CAN BOWL AUSSIES OVER

I think Australia will shade it 3-1 (6s at BetVictor) but the lower middle order of Ben Stokes, Jos Buttler and Moeen Ali is as exciting a line-up as I can remember in English cricket. If England go down I think it will be with all guns blazing; if Moeen Ali returned to last summer's form with the ball the 10/1 for him to be top England wicket taker in the series would be huge and I think if the hosts are playing catch-up later in the series then Yorkshire's Adil Rashid must play to give Captain Cook another bowling option.

★ The draw for the BetVictor World Matchplay was made on Monday and number one seed Michael van Gerwen looks to have been given a smooth passage into the semi-final.

My initial thoughts on the draw: Jelle Klaasen, who burst onto the scene a couple of years ago and then went off the radar, has been playing well of late, winning in Wigan last weekend, and he looks the value at Evens with BetVictor against Aussie Simon Whitlock (8/11) in the curtain-raiser on Saturday July 18th.

Other notable round ones include Keegan Brown at 11/10 against Robert Thornton (8/11). The latter has played five and lost all five opening ties on the Winter Gardens stage and Brown is a rare young talent.

★ Newmarket's three-day July meeting begins on Thursday and Godolphin's STEADY PACE (2.45) can reverse last month's Windsor Castle Stakes form with Areen over the extra furlong in the July Stakes.

Sixth Sense is dropping back a furlong, having appeared to find 7f taxing his stamina in the Chesham also at Royal Ascot last time, for Mark Johnston whose string remain in great shape.

I'm looking forward to seeing the unbeaten MAHSOOB (3.15) step up to 12 furlongs for the first time for John Gosden. The colt looked to be crying out for the distance when winning the Wolferton Handicap at Royal Ascot.

OUCH: McIlroy

Open's all over for crock Mac

GOLF: EIGHT DAYS UNTIL THE OPEN

RORY MCILROY has been told he should forget about playing in the Open after his freak footy injury.

The Northern Irishman is still hoping to line up at St Andrews next Thursday. But other players who have had the same problem say that's all pie in the sky.

He has ruptured his ankle ligaments after a kickabout with his mates and that can take MONTHS to heal properly.

Scottish player Richie Ramsay copped the same injury and has told his mate that he will need a long time on the sidelines.

He said: "I had a full tear of ligaments in my ankle not long ago. It takes a lot longer than you think to heal. It was three months until I played after tearing ligaments and even then getting my foot to work the right way was tough."

The injury pours cold water on McIlroy's rivalry with Jordan Spieth who has raced to one place behind him in the world rankings and has already won this year's US Open and Masters.

But the American says Rory's absence doesn't make it any easier to lift the famous claret jug.

He said: "It doesn't change anything. 'It's still just as challenging."

"It's still a major championship and there is a lot of unbelievable talent. I obviously wish he was there."

Kickabout

McIlroy's camp are trying to be positive but it looks increasingly unlikely that he'll be in Scotland. And even if he is, he'd have to wear an ankle brace that could bugger up his swing.

McIlroy said on Twitter: "Total rupture of left ankle ligament and associated joint capsule damage in a soccer kickabout with friends on Saturday."

"Continuing to asses extent of injury and treatment plan day by day. Rehab already started. Working to get back as soon as I can."

The injury is a bad one for a golfer as the left ankle is crucial to the swing.

And Ryder Cup team-mate Luke Donald added his voice to the commiserations, saying: "I would never say 'don't play football or don't do these things.'

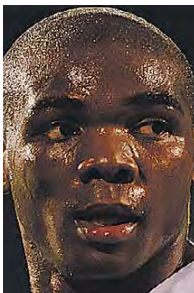

"You don't want to live in a bubble. It's just unlucky timing, especially this time of the year. Golf is exciting with Rory and Jordan. It's added a bit of spice to the game. It's a shame if Rory misses the Open, which it looks like he might."

Hammers in tussle for Juve stopper

Lusitanos (0) v West Ham (3)

Europa League: Thurs, 6.30pm

WEST Ham head off to Andorra for the second leg of their Europa League tie in the middle of a transfer battle.

The Hammers will have to chew off the Toffees to complete the signing of Juventus' prized defender Angelo Ogbonna.

The Boleyn Ground mob looked a shoo-in to sign the want-away Turin ace who is rated at around £8million.

Then Everton stuck their noses in.

The Italian club and the 27-year-old are poised to make a decision this morning, with West Ham having the slight edge.

Ogbonna's agent has spoken to both clubs and Juventus want £8m for the former Torino defender.

Moved

He was an unused substitute for Juventus when they were beaten by Barcelona in the Champions League final in May, and he has been linked with a host of Premier League clubs this summer.

Elsewhere, West Ham have agreed a deal in principle to sign Argentine midfielder Manuel Lanzini on loan from UAE-based club Al Jazira.

The 22-year-old, who has an Italian passport, was considered by West Ham while at River Plate last summer but he moved to the Middle East instead for £5.25m.

Known as 'La Joya' or 'The Jewel', Lanzini also has interest from Sharjah. He scored eight goals in 24 appearances to help Jazira to a second-place finish in the Arabian Gulf League last season.

The Hammers take a 3-0 lead to take on the part-timers tomorrow.

They are expected to take a youthful side to the principality with qualification in the bag.

Four Mour years

BUT JOSE TURNS DOWN PAY RISE WITH NEW DEAL

JOSE Mourinho has nailed his colours to the Chelsea mast in a four-year deal which will tie him to Stamford Bridge until 2019.

The Special One made a special choice after deliberating over a much-publicised offer from Roman Abramovich, the Blues owner.

Mourinho has settled for the same terms he held before, although a domestic double of the League and the Capital One Cup could have yielded a nice pay rise.

Yet he is happy to maintain

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

his current £8.5million per-year salary.

Better than a kick up the arse with a winkle-picker, we know, but even so.

Magnanimously, Mourinho admitted last season he isn't motivated by money and he said: "I don't need a contract, I don't need a pay rise."

"I stay as long as Mr Abramovich wants me!"

Jose's first action after sealing his new deal is to capture Brazilian teenager Kenedy this week.

The 19-year-old, who has been touted as the 'next

Hulk' has also been on the close radar of Manchester United.

Fellow-yellow Nathan dropped a huge hint of Kenedy moving to Stamford Bridge when he took to Twitter, saying: "Welcome to Chelsea."

Hell

It is rumoured Kenedy will sign a five-year contract with the Blues this week.

The player has already left Fluminense after being sold to a third-party organisation for £6.3m.

What the hell that means, we have no idea but he's signing any way. But he will become the second Brazilian to move to Stamford Bridge after Nathan.

One pre-season setback the Blues have suffered is that they have lost out in their bid to acquire the services of Napoli left-back Faouzi Ghoulam.

Chelsea are not alone in Europe's top clubs by being dumped by the highly prized defender.

He has also spurned the affections of big names in Paris St Germain and Real Madrid.

But he said: "I'm not losing my head about this and I'm enjoying my holidays, Napoli is a great club." Ghoulam worked with new Real manager Rafael Benitez at Napoli last season but says there is almost no chance of him joining the Spaniard at the Bernabeu.

Perfect

"Benitez? I've worked with many coaches, and I have to say I got on very well with him," he added.

"He impressed me, he works a lot on details and is always trying to perfect his work."

"But I am my own man. "I love Napoli and I am staying put. And that is that."

CHRIS CROSS WITH VILLANS

By JOHN ANTHONY

CHRISTIAN Benteke has left Aston Villa in no doubt that he wants to join Liverpool.

The striker (left) has held showdown talks with boss Tim Sherwood who has always said he'd like to keep him.

But the big fella has other ideas and is desperate to move 100 miles up the M6.

The sticking point is the transfer fee that seems to have been set at £32.5million which is the release clause in the Belgian's contract.

Villa paid just £7m to Genk for his services three years ago and Liverpool don't want to give them more than a £15m profit with a deal in the region of £22m on the table.

With the European championships next summer and rich competition in the Belgium squad, Benteke wants to put an end to life at the bottom of the Premier League.

Arsenal and Tottenham are both sniffing about as well but feel the same way about the transfer fee.

Sherwood would like him to head for Spurs so he can have cash plus Emmanuel Adebayor as a replacement.

Benteke is keen to play for one of the Red teams, with the Kop in pole position as they can offer more first-team football than the Gunners. His 42 Premier League goals for a team that has always struggled is exactly what Brendan Rodgers needs.

Benteke would be a good foil for Daniel Sturridge but can also be relied on to be fit a lot more than the England man.

And Liverpool are still waiting for Man City make their next move for Raheem Sterling.

The whole world knows that he will cost £50m and not a penny less but the moneybags Mancs are sticking around £15m less than that. Liverpool's American owners refuse to be ripped off for a player who they wanted to keep before his agent stuck his oar in.

Sterling has played a full part in pre-season training at Melwood since coming back on Monday.

The key time will come when Liverpool head off for their pre-season tour of Australia and the Far East at the weekend. If he goes on that then maybe City's wishes won't come true.

Another player who might not be on the plane is Mario Balotelli who has missed pre-season so far on compassionate leave after the death of his adoptive father at the weekend.

DEAL: Darmian

United in £12m move for Darmian

MAN United are trying to solve their right-back problems by signing Torino's Matteo Darmian.

Boss Louis Van Gaal is an admirer of the classy Italian who can also play in the middle of the defence.

United struggled in the position last season with Rafael, Antonio Valencia, Chris Smalling and Daley Blind all deployed there.

And now they look to have agreed a £12m fee with Torino for Darmian.

The 25-year-old has cemented his place in the Italy side and he has the combination of pace and power that the United backline has been lacking.

Torino chief Urban Cairo says he can understand why the player would be on his bike to a club that can offer Champions League football.

But the deal needs to be completed this week or he'll be going nowhere.

He said: "Three offers have arrived for Darmian, but out of respect for the clubs who have made them, I won't reveal who they are."

"Darmian is an extraordinary player who will want to try and win the Champions League one day."

"But Sunday is the deadline as the players who come back for pre-season training will be staying with the club."

Van Gaal doesn't trust Rafael at right-back and with good reason as he is suspect defensively and has a habit of getting in trouble with the ref.

He pondered a bid for new Liverpool man Nat Clyne but didn't want to pay £12.5m for the 25-year-old.

A move for Everton's Seamus Coleman is on the cards but he too will come at the top of what United are prepared to spend.

SPURS TO SPEND £11.5M ON MIDFIELD ACE

TOBY SURE

Alder deal looks done and dusted

By MIKE MURRAY

THE Saints are about to cop a Toby jug full of cash.

Toby Alderweireld's £11.5m transfer to Tottenham Hotspur is as good as a done deal after the Atletico Madrid defender passed his medical with the Londoners.

The loanee's club of the last campaign Southampton are bitterly disappointed to lose the player but they have a fair bit of dough awaiting by way of compensation.

The Belgium international was examined by Tottenham yesterday and is on the verge of completing a move to White Hart Lane.

The switch, which will see Spurs pay £10m up front with another £1.5m in add-ons, is just waiting on some final paperwork to be processed, but it is only a matter of time before it is made official.

Alderweireld has already agreed terms on a five-year contract which is expected to earn him a salary in excess of £50,000 a week.

The news will come as a bitter blow to Southampton, where the 26-year-old spent last season on loan.

And this is where it gets a tad complicated.

Saints have threatened to take legal action against Atletico in an attempt to block the deal.

Southampton had an option to sign him for £6.8m and claim Atletico's promise to pay their get-out clause worth £1.5m, which would negate the proviso between them, came too late.

However, sources in Spain suggest that Southampton's right to buy Alderweireld for such a cheap sum ran out when his loan officially expired at the end of last month.

As far as Spurs are concerned, the issue has nothing to do with them and is not a hindrance to the transfer going ahead.

Tottenham chairman Daniel Levy was travelling to meet with Atletico officials before the weekend and Alderweireld flew to London yesterday to finalise the deal.

Southampton director of football Les Reed has gone to Madrid to sort out the situation with Atletico, where their most likely outcome is to get a share of the fee Tottenham are going to pay.

As the awful Dire Straits (half the name was right) once sang, 'money for nothing'.

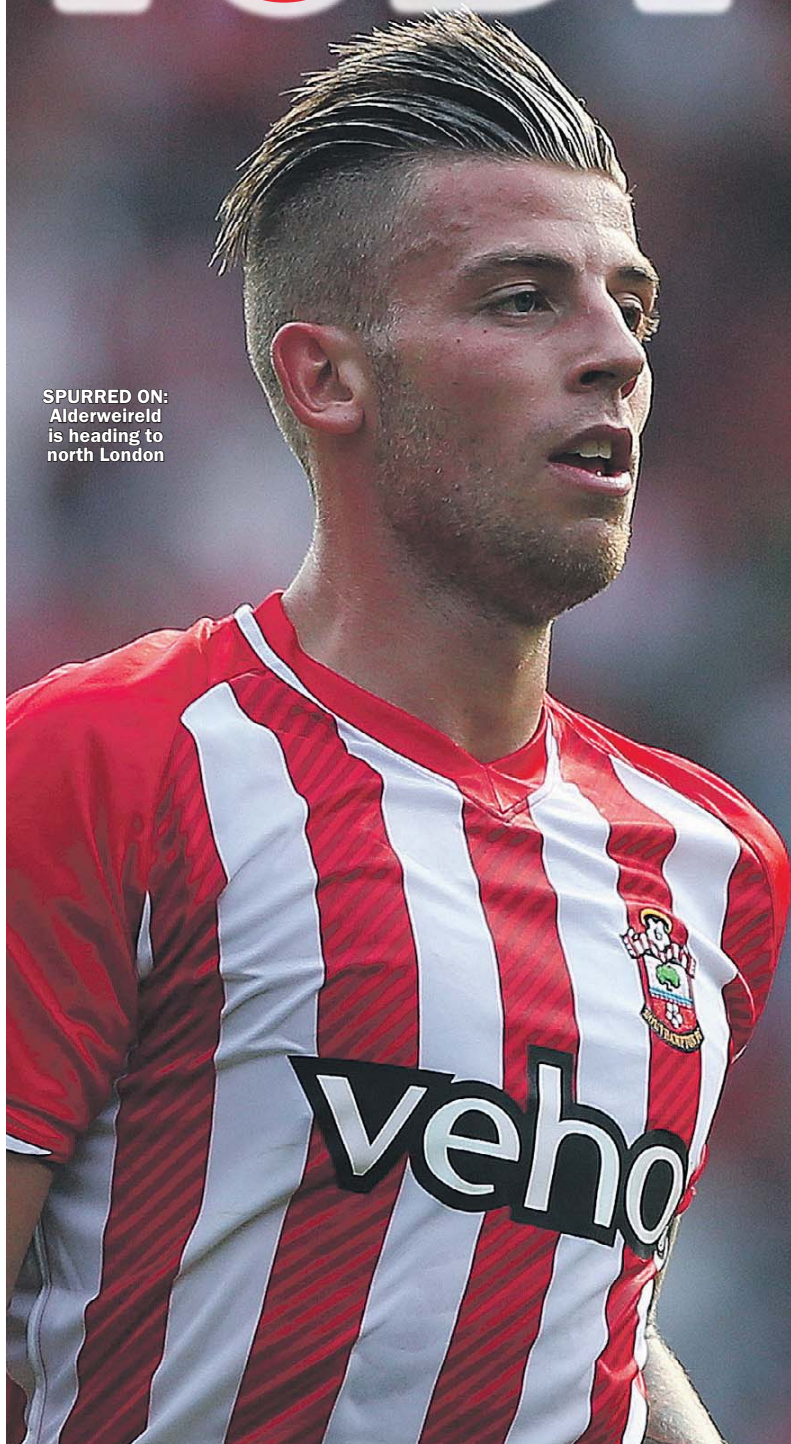

Ronald Koeman (left), the Southampton manager, admits he has been left confused by the prospect of missing out on a player that impressed under his guidance last term. He said: "Southampton signed an option for the player and Atletico Madrid is trying to take back the option."

"In our knowledge this was too late and what happened with Tottenham in the middle, I don't know."

"The player told us he was very happy about Southampton. We mentioned to the player that we would like to continue and that was the case to Atletico Madrid and what happened after, I don't know."

As it appears, Atletico get the transfer fee, Spurs get the player and Southampton get a cut of the deal. Everyone's a winner.

SPURRED ON: Alderweireld is heading to north London

Baines faces fitness fight

EVERTON defender Leighton Baines faces a race against time to be fit for the new season.

The England left-back has stayed at home as the Toffees get ready to jet off to Singapore for their summer tour.

The 30-year-old was forced out of the final two games of Everton's Premier League season to have ankle surgery. He also missed the summer internationals.

He's been struggling for the past three years with ankle trouble and boss Roberto Martinez reports that the operation went well and Baines' recovery is on track.

The Everton boss added: "Leighton Baines, Darron Gibson and Bryan Oviedo are missing from the squad for Singapore."

"They're recovering from injuries which saw them miss the end of the last campaign."

Everton play Swindon on Saturday before heading east to play in the Barclays Asia Trophy against Stoke and Arsenal.

IKER CLEARS WAY FOR DE GEA

By PETE BAILEY

REAL Madrid have swung open the door of the Bernabeu to Manchester United's David De Gea as their first-choice goalie for next season.

Real let it slip that the agent of veteran stopper Iker Casillas has admitted that the 34-year-old is interested in a move to Porto.

That smoothes the path for the departure of De Gea from United this summer.

Casillas might be knocking on a bit but he featured in 32 fixtures for Los Blancos last season.

Yet he feels unloved. His long-term future and place in the side have been repeatedly questioned. He's even fallen out with the fans who had been so loyal to him.

A veteran of three Champions League victories, Casillas' 25-year spell between the sticks at the Bernabeu appears to be edging to a close following the revelation that a potential switch to Portugal appeals to him.

You can tell when footy agents are lying. Their lips move.

But Casillas' representative Carlo Cutropia said: "Iker is interested in Porto and Porto are interested in Iker. We hope Madrid facilitate his departure."

"Iker is very interested in going to Porto. Madrid have an offer and they know what Casillas wants."

All of which, assuming it isn't bullshit, appears to pave the way for Madrid to complete the signing of De Gea from the Red Devils.

The 24-year-old reported for the first day of pre-season training at Old Trafford on Monday afternoon, but Madrid's pursuit of his signature is expected to be stepped up now that Casillas' future is on the brink of being resolved. De Gea has just one year remaining on his contract and United boss Louis van Gaal faces the modern dilemma facing all football club managers.

You either cash in on a values asset, in this case a shot stopper, this summer or, maybe in the January window.

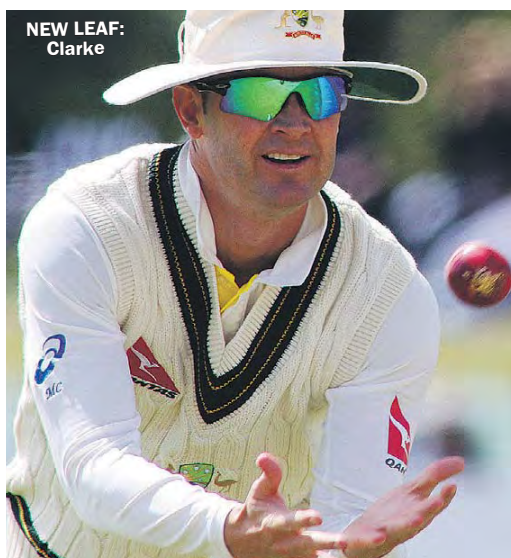

Or potentially surrender his services for no return.

De Gea is highly prized at Old Trafford. He was arguably their man of the season last campaign.

But both sides of the contract paper realise everybody has their price.

THE ASHES 2015: IT ALL KICKS OFF TODAY IN

NEW LEAF:
Clarke

Oh behave! Clarke keeps it clean now

AUSSIE skipper Michael Clarke says his players will be like little angels on the field during the Ashes.

That sounds a bit rich coming from the man who told James Anderson (below) to "get ready for a f*cking broken arm" in the last clashes with our cousins from down under.

But he seems to have turned over a new leaf and wants his players to keep their temper in check when the action starts today.

There has been a daft amount of sledging in recent years between two teams that think it's big to gob off in the middle.

Now Clarke says it's time for everyone to grow up and just get on with the game.

He said: "For me you don't have to say a word to show your intent and play a good brand of cricket. I've said my whole career, whether I've sledged someone or somebody's sledged me it's never helped my game.

"I'd like to see the individual players play their best cricket and to some players that I've been fortunate enough to play with through my career it helped their game, they see benefit in that.

Respect

"As long as those players understand there's a line you can't overstep then they know what they have to do to get the best out of themselves and that's what important for the team to have success.

"The way we've been brought up is to play tough competitive cricket on the field, but I certainly understand the respect, the rules and regulations of our game and where that line sits.

"I've made it very clear in the last series that if somebody overstepped that mark it was me and as captain of this team I need to be more disciplined and I know I will be."

The bookies make the Aussies favourites to take the urn home and, on recent Test form, you'd have to think they are right. But England have a good recent record in home Ashes with Australia without a win here in three goes since 2001.

Mind you, the Three Lions were tonked 5-0 Down Under last time they met.

But Clarke realises his side will have to be at their best to win.

He said: "We know how hard this series is going to be, it's no coincidence we haven't won here since 2001.

"Beating England in their own backyard is extremely tough, we're excited by the challenge but we know it's going to be a tough five Test match series."

The Aussies are still working out which players to start the series with.

Clarke added: "We'll announce our XI at the toss of the coin."

KP: I'M BACKING AUSSIES

Axed England batting legend says tourists will crush Poms

By JOHN ANTHONY

WE'RE not saying he's bitter or anything but Kevin Pietersen is tipping AUSTRALIA to win the Ashes.

The man who has worn the Three Lions in 104 Tests says the home boys don't have the bowling power to see off the tourists when the action starts in Cardiff today.

That's ironic as you might think he'd complain about the battling line-up seeing as he's been dumped out of it by new chief Andrew Strauss.

But it's with the ball where he's forecasting a hard time for Jimmy Anderson, Stuart Broad and company over the next six weeks.

KP said: "I think Australia will win 2-1.

"I want England to win but I just can't see it happening. I hope I am wrong.

"The difference between the two teams this series is we do not have that strike bowler who can lead the attack and take wickets while James Anderson is resting between spells.

"Two years ago we had Graeme Swann but I'm concerned as to who will be our match-winner if Anderson does not turn up.

"It is essential Stuart Broad and Mark Wood are firing and taking wickets.

England's route to victory then lies with Alastair Cook and Joe Root scoring lots of runs, and the bowling attack working in partnerships to make up for that lack of a strike bowler."

It's been well documented that Strauss and Pietersen don't get on and he made sure KP wasn't brought back into the side despite his blistering early form in the county championship.

He hasn't played since the last Ashes series when the Three Lions played more like donkeys.

And KP thinks the key to success for England is all in the mind.

He added: "You have to make a play. England have to come out and attack Australia.

"There is no way in the world they are going to win the series by being defensive.

"Australians are intimidating people when they get on top of you.

"So England guys have to fight them on their own terms. Do not take a backward step.

"The Ashes is sporting war and sledging is good for the game. I want more of it and I want there to be fire in the series.

"I do not want to see people laughing and joking with each other.

"It is Ashes cricket. You do

AUSSIE LOVER: KP
fancies an away win
in the Ashes clashes

TALENT: Stokes

Stokes is key man for Cook

ALASTAIR Cook says Ben Stokes can write his name in Ashes folklore this summer.

The Durham man is following in the footsteps of two talismanic all-rounders in Sir Ian Botham and Andrew Flintoff who both played huge parts in Ashes wins.

And the England captain thinks Stokes is capable of handling the pressure — and sledging — that will come his way over the five Test matches.

He said: "He's been in fantastic form this summer and I believe he's come into his own into this team."

"He feels comfortable and I think he's going to have a fantastic summer."

"I like the way he's gone about his business."

"He trains incredibly hard, physically he's in really good shape."

"I think he understands international cricket a little bit better than when he first started."

"I think that's a natural thing though — getting used to the environment — but he likes the competitive side of it and I just like the way he goes about it."

Fan

And Cook thinks there is enough young talent coming through in the team to keep the Ashes for a long time.

He added: "I like the way Jos Buttler goes about it and Joe Root."

"They are the guys who will take this side forward in the next 10 years or so."

And Botham himself is a big fan of Stokes.

Beefy was the hero when England won the Ashes in 1981 and he fancies Stokes to have a similar impact.

He thinks he is a more rounded player than Flintoff who didn't quite cut it with the bat.

He said: "Stokes is the real thing."

"He's got the right attitude, he's a tough competitor and is a good enough bowler and good enough batsman."

"He didn't have much luck with the ball in the Tests against New Zealand with a few catches dropped off him but that can suddenly change."

"The way he is going to play will win you games. He goes out there and plays with no fear and he's very strong mentally."

"He's young but he's got real talent. That's why you've got to cut him some slack."

not test people mentally by smiling at the opposition on the field.

"Do not cross the line or be personal. But stand up and take them on."

The whole issue of sledging could be the most significant part of the series — and both sides have been told to keep their gobs shut.

Crickets rulers the ICC have told captains Cook and Michael Clarke that they will be keeping a very close eye on what's happening on the field.

And they will take a dim view of the sort of verbals that have blighted previous series.

Aussie opening batsman David Warner in particular has been told to cut out the chat. He allegedly chinned Joe Root in a pub before the last Ashes in England and has also stepped out of line on the field several times.

He is now on his final ICC warning and knows he'll be banned for Test matches if he falls foul of the umpires again.

But he doesn't seem that bothered, saying: "I'm on my last warning from the ICC."

"The rules are being clamped down now."

"They're really honing in on players celebrating wickets and obviously a bit of banter on the field."

"If you walk towards a player the umpires are going to fine you, you've got to be smart with what you do. But you want to see that aggression, you want to see that banter out there."

"You want the play-and-miss, and the bowler comes down the wicket and gives you a stare. You love that as a batsman, it's a challenge."

"I feel that sometimes it could be taking away from the viewers, that the viewers love that."

"You know that when you get out there the crowd gets into it, they enjoy that stuff."

"Every time somebody bowls a bouncer the crowd just loves it, they cheer."

"I think at the moment they're taking that away from the game a little bit."

THE 2015 ASHES STARTS IN CARDIFF TODAY!

LION ATTACK!

Cook tells England to fight for pride

URN IT: Cook and Clarke yesterday

By MIKE MURRAY

ENGLAND will come out roaring when the Ashes kicks off in Cardiff today.

That's a promise from skipper Alastair Cook who says the Three Lions will go for the throat from ball one. The Essex boy has copped plenty of stick for being a cautious captain but he's vowed to be much more adventurous this summer. And he'll have to be as he's up against one of the most resourceful skippers in the world, Michael Clarke. The talking will be over at 11am this morning.

But Cook had plenty to say last night.

He blasted: "It is important I get on the front foot.

"If you look back at the previous teams, they were more methodical.

"There's more opportunity to be on the front foot with the players we've got now.

"As a leader of a group you have to change your style of leadership to the players you've got in the changing room and what gets the best out of them.

"It's a huge challenge for us to play against one of the best sides in the world but in our home conditions as players you want to test yourself against the best.

"That's what you want to do and see how good you really are."

And he wants his men to forget the argy-bargy from the last two Ashes series which were far from cordial affairs.

He added: "That's gone. You cannot keep harping on about that.

"You've got to be very careful as players not to read too much into all that kind of stuff.

"It's all a brand new challenge, a fresh start for all the players.

"Both teams have got several new faces in them.

"Cricket's not played on paper, it's not played on what happened two years ago, it's about what happens for the next 25 days."
